Allies Stage Counter-Blow To Slow Reds

Heavy Attack Made To South Of Wonju

By LEIF ERICKSON

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U.S. 8th Army's retreat route to the old Pusan beachhead.

Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds.

An allied regiment counter-attacked "strong Communist" forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

Allied artillery slammed shells into the Reds and fighter-bombers roared down in close support. Field dispatches said the fighting still was raging shortly before midnight Tuesday.

The counter-attack six miles southwest of Wonju was in the area where the Reds gained a half-mile Monday and allied forces later recovered most of the ground.

FOE BUILDING UP

But army intelligence reported the Chinese were building up a massive attacking force around Osan. At least two Chinese armies—possibly 80,000 or more troops—were spotted in the area.

The Eighth Army continued its retreat to the southeast. Vanguard of the fast-moving Red forces pressed close on the heels of rearward troops.

Two patrol flights flared 13 and 14 miles southeast of Osan. These attacks put the Reds only 50 road miles—less by air—from the Kum River where the U.S. 24th Division began its tragic defence of Taejon last July.

The Korean Communists, bulked now by hundreds of thousands of Chinese who entered the war when the allies almost had it won, were retracing their route of summer conquest into South Korea.

The Communists walked into abandoned Osan Monday. Osan, 28 miles south of Seoul, is the town near where the first American soldier of the Korean war was killed last July.

Communist forces rushed Tuesday into the Osan area massing for the continuing pursuit of the fleeing Eighth Army. The Reds moved artillery southward across the Han River at Seoul.

An Eighth army spokesman said one force estimated at 10,000 troops was spotted near Osan.

ROADS CLOGGED

Allied pilots said Communist troops were clogging the roads south of Seoul and in the Wonju area 55 miles southeast. One airman said:

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up here. They are all moving south."

The airman was ordered to shoot up all groups behind Communist lines, whether in or out of uniform, except for obvious family groups or children.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy with occasional showers Wednesday with sunny intervals in afternoon. Winds southwest 25 m.p.h. Low tonight 38, high tomorrow 47.

Britannia's Sword Stolen, Police Learn

LONDON (CP)—Scotland Yard, hot on the search for the stolen Stone of Scone, was told that Britannia's sword is also missing today.

The four-foot bronze sword was attached to a girdle round the figure of Britannia seated at the base of a statue of Scotsman Lord Clyde, the Indian Mutiny hero.

It was reported missing last night by the Ministry of Works, probably swiped some time last Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The statue is in Waterloo Place, right off Pall Mall, in the heart of London.

Scotland Yard detectives, still mystified by the disappearance of the Coronation Stone from Westminster Abbey Christmas Day, were switched to the new theft.

Detectives, scratching their heads, asked this question: "Who took it?"

Could it have been supporters of the Cardiff soccer team to demonstrate their support of Welsh home rule? London was filled to overflowing Saturday night with soccer fans who took in the Football Association matches.

(One theory about the Coronation stone theft was that Scottish Nationalists hoisted it from the abbey. The stone was originally taken from Scotland by England's Edward I in the 13th century.)

Canadians End First Operation

By BILL BOSS

PUSAN, Korea (CP)—A compact, heavily-armed force returned to the encampment of the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Monday night, completing the Canadians' first operational assignment within the battalion.

The group, under Maj. Gordon Henderson of Calgary, made a 48-hour road reconnaissance for the battalion commander, Lt. Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C.

Col. Stone had ordered a check on all roads within a certain radius of his area, some reported guerrilla-ridden. The most incredulous person encountered was a United States military policeman.

Spotting the still-unfamiliar tactical signs on the Canadian vehicles and the Patricia's shoulder flashes, he shouted: "Hey, do you guys speak English?"

(The P.P.C.L.I. took up training positions two weeks ago at Miryang, about 100 miles from the present fighting around Osan.)

The most admiring group the Canadians encountered in their foray was a number of Korean children at play yesterday.

In the presence of United States troops who were ingratiating themselves with the kids by gifts of candy and chewing gum, the Canadians still stole the show. The Korean children watched admiringly while the Canadians broke camp and cleaned their weapons before moving off.

Brig. Frank J. Fleury, 36-year-old head of the Canadian liaison group in the Far East, after a brief, informal visit to the Patricia's encampment to confer with Col. Stone, spent the day discussing administrative matters with British and United States authorities before returning to Tokyo today.

Col. Stone, who accompanied Brig. Fleury, called a battalion parade on his return to spike rumors based on recent developments on the United Nations front, more than 100 miles north of here.

Some Stocks Hit 29-Year Record

NEW YORK (BUP)—Ralls, steels and shipbuilding issues led the stock market toward a 29-year high in the first hour trading today.

Motors, coppers, aircrafts, tires and chemicals firmed. Oils ranged to around one point higher.

Prices included Curtis Wright up 1/4 at 12; Bethlehem up 1/4 at 55 1/2. And Bath Iron Works at 1 at 28.

Went bird-watchin' over the week-end and saw a specimen in Beacon Hill Park quite common at this time o' year: the buff-tinted due bill.

War Coverage 'Black Out' By Censorship

U.N. Withdrawal Dictates Policy

TOKYO (AP)—Censorship is throwing a black curtain around news of the tremendous pullback of United Nations forces in Korea.

Field censors have clipped large chunks out of dispatches on the grounds of military security. Some Associated Press stories have arrived in Tokyo minus their first and most important paragraph.

Violators May Face Trials

(U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—This U.N. command announced today war correspondents violating censorship regulation will be subject to expulsion or trial by court martial.

The announcement said such action would be taken in extreme cases "where investigation proves that the circumstances warrant."

The Eighth Army's announcement was accompanied by a list of specific regulations by which censorship in Korea now will operate. Some of the points were covered in previous directives.

Correspondents "may be subject to disciplinary action because of intentional violation of these and other regulations, either in letter or in spirit," the announcement added.)

Correspondents are not permitted to use the word "retreat" in connection with the pullback. Security officers in Tokyo say this is a planned and orderly withdrawal—not a retreat in the face of Communist China's overwhelming manpower.

(Webster's unabridged dictionary says "... A retreat is properly an orderly march, in which circumstances it differs from a flight, rout, etc.")

Two Nuns Die In Quebec School Fire

ST. JANVIER, Que. (CP)—Fire early today took the lives of two nuns and destroyed a two-story building here operated as a school by the Sisters of the Sacred Heart.

The dead: Sister Rachel De Jesus, 19, born May Lucie LaBelle, and Sister Annette Sauvage, 20, born May Gaetane Gauthier.

The two youthful sisters died of asphyxiation. Firemen at the scene reported the two nuns were overcome during one of several trips they made into the burning school building to save holy articles.

St. Janvier is a small centre on the main Montreal-to-Laurentians Highway about 24 miles northwest of Montreal.

Six other sisters who were in the building when the fire broke out escaped.

Tokyo, Yokohama Rocked By 'Quakes'

QUEBEC PLANS RENT CONTROL

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Premier Maurice Duplessis said today his government will seek legislative approval to enter the field of rent controls if and when the federal government withdraws. Federal rent controls are scheduled to expire March 31.

'Ike' Inspects Sites For His Headquarters

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, military commander of the Atlantic Pact countries, arrived here today to inspect the headquarters of the five-power Brussels Pact defence alliance.

After meeting President Vincent Auriol in Paris early in the morning, Eisenhower made an unannounced stop in Versailles to inspect his Second World War headquarters in the Hotel Trianon.

Both Versailles and Fontainebleau have been mentioned as possible sites for the general's headquarters as leader of the 12-power army.

At Fontainebleau Gen. Ike received a half-hour briefing on air defence in western Europe in a conference with Air Chief Marshal Sir James M. Robb, commander-in-chief of the Brussels group's air section. Then he went for a tour of the headquarters and to lunch at the officers' mess.

Also present at the meeting with Robb were Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's chief of staff, and French Admiral Robert Jaujard, Brussels pact chief of naval defence.

Eisenhower was to return to Orly Field, Paris, to enplane for Brussels, second stop on his tour of the Atlantic Pact powers which will supply his army.

Painter Admits Torso Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A house-painter confessed to Brooklyn's late-locker torso slaying early today, officials said, a few hours after detectives nabbed him trying to flee his boarding house in pyjamas.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy and District Attorney Miles F. McDonald announced the confession by Pasquale Donofrio, 38.

McDonald said Donofrio admitted the slaying of Dorothy Martin, 37, of Saugerties, N.Y., last Nov. 25.

DOOMSDAY DIDN'T DAWN AT KEREMEOS

B.C. Religious Cultists Sit Out 'World's End' With Prayer, Gun

KEREMEOS, B.C. (BUP)—Thirty-six religious cultists today sat out a doomsday that didn't dawn with prayerbooks in hand and a shotgun within reach.

Miffed because doomsday produced nothing but cold weather and gawking crowds, they read up on prayers so they could "welcome the Lord" and eyed the shotgun with curious and earthy crowds in mind.

Doomsday, or the end of the world, was supposed to have arrived at their candle-lit five-room farmhouse refuge from worldly whims sometime today. It didn't show.

Instead, said Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson, their gaunt, bespectacled leader, "We hope to meet God, but we don't know in what form."

Situation Deteriorates But No Emergency Yet

HONGKONG (CP)—The United States Consulate-General said today it would warn all American citizens in this British Crown Colony tomorrow to evacuate their dependents because of "deterioration of the situation in the Far East."

Consul-General Walter P. McConaughy told correspondents at a special press conference that the warning is "more or less precautionary" and that no actual emergency is seen in the offing.

A Hongkong government spokesman said no similar action was contemplated by British authorities.

The Crown Colony borders on Red China.

McConaughy issued advance copies of the warning at the press conference and requested that it be given full publicity.

The circular urged that Americans "seriously consider the advisability of evacuating dependents and effects at this time, while normal transportation facilities are freely available."

Three American companies announced last week they were taking steps to remove dependents of their personnel in Hongkong—an island and a neighboring narrow strip of land adjoining Communist China.

(The B.U.P. in a broadcast today said the Chase National Bank a few days ago ordered its Hongkong branch to close.

U.S. Must Pay 'Till It Hurts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today the United States must be taxed "until it hurts" to arm the free world against the menace of Communist aggression.

Treasury Secretary John Snyder, it was learned, believes that despite widespread recommendations for "pay-as-you-go" financing, taxation steep enough to pay out of hand for the huge rearmament effort would rip the American economic fabric.

Any hope that sizeable new federal deficits could be avoided by increased taxes appeared to be fading as members of the new Congress sized up probable outlay and came to a tentative conclusion that the government will need somewhere in the region of $75,000,000,000 in the coming fiscal year. That is $25,000,000,000 more than the record $50,000,000,000 collections of this year.

The President gave his warning that "it is necessary to tax until it hurts" in a conciliatory letter to Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.), with whom Truman has often clashed. The senator made the letter public today.

SALES TAX TALK The letter immediately aroused talk of a possible national retail sales tax, or other forms of taxation on all or most of U.S. commerce.

It was learned that Snyder told the armed forces "industrial college" here in a recent talk: "We must recognize that it is impossible in fact to cover all the expenditures of a full-scale military effort through taxation of current incomes. . . . In a system of free business enterprise such

The high court's decision ended with the order that the 33-year-old jewelry salesman "must be executed Jan. 12, 1951" for murdering his wife Rita, one of the 23 persons killed when the airliner in which they were passengers exploded in mid-air and crashed at Sault Au Cochon, Sept. 9, 1949.

Counsel representing Guay did not reply when asked if he would appeal to the Department of Justice in Ottawa on behalf of his client.

The plea for clemency now is the only recourse left open to counsel for Guay.

DOOMSDAY DIDN'T DAWN AT KEREMEOS

B.C. Religious Cultists Sit Out 'World's End' With Prayer, Gun

The 60-year-old, former Pentecostal churchwoman who broke from orthodox faiths a year ago confided to her male and female following indoors that they shouldn't worry. She said the Lord would roll down a nearby mountainside in a ball of fire.

GETTING MESSAGES "We're getting messages all the time," she announced. "We had hoped to be out before now, but interference has delayed it."

Mrs. Carlson, who once was postmistress of the worldly hamlet of Osoyoos, B.C., indicated she believed that the interference was more human than static. A group of 12 self-styled "vigilantes" who tried to raid the house Monday withdrew hastily after someone inside murmured, "Get the shotgun."

The sect members, who described themselves as "Children of Light," had lived in semi-darkness behind blanket draped windows in the farmhouse since Dec. 26, sleeping in relays on the floors.

Late Sunday night a seven-branched candlestick flickered in the house as Mrs. Carlson stood on a raised dais in the middle of the front room, reading prayers and singing.

As she talked her flock, garbed in white togas and wearing white tennis shoes to signify their purity, mumbled and chanted.

Four-Lane Bridge For Point Ellice

Public Works Committee
May View Plans Friday

Suggestions for a four-lane Point Ellice Bridge with a 30-foot clearance and raised street approaches will likely go before the public works committee Friday afternoon.

The new clearance would add 11 feet to the level of the present structure. The water pipe, now carried at the side of the bridge, may be placed underneath the deck.

An estimate of $450,000 made by Mayor George some weeks ago is still considered "a good guess" as to approximate cost.

City Engineer Jones and his staff have brooked no delay in making a general outline for the new bridge at request of City Council. He hopes to be able to present a concrete suggestion by Friday.

If City Council at its Jan. 16 meeting approves, the city engineer may be authorized to have a consulting engineer make detailed plans. These may take anywhere up to six months.

It is felt that with everything in its favor the city could have construction started in the late fall. Barring war, steel shortages and unforeseen delays, construction might be completed by the late fall of 1952.

"The period of complete closure might be a very few months since the old bridge would not have to be taken down piece by piece," Mr. Jones said. "Parts of the new could be prefabricated and floated into place on scows."

Part way through in his detailed planning it is felt the consulting engineer would be in a position to give City Council a definite idea of cost, which would enable it to put a money by-law to the people.

Maj. J. R. Grant, consulting engineer of Vancouver made plans for a three-lane Point Ellice Bridge in 1947 at an estimated cost of $200,000. When queried by council in late October, on adding another lane and possibly lifting the level, he reported by the end of 1950, that it would be feasible.

"It was a report on the cost of a four-lane structure not a new plan," Maj. Grant told the Victoria Times by telephone today. "I have not been asked to make new plans."

Mayor George said he would press for the new bridge as quickly as possible.

MEDICOS GIVE CLUE TO STONE

LONDON (CP)—The Medical Press, noting the Stone of Scone weighs 458 pounds, offered this tip to Scotland Yard today.

"Our own suggestion for the discovery of the culprits, for what it is worth, is that the medical profession should be circularized and asked to report all cases in which hernia (rupture) developed about the New Year."

The "message" was supposed to be delivered today but nothing unusual was noted in or near the stone cottage where the sect retired the day after Christmas.

The "salesman" represents himself as an agent for a Toronto company manufacturing dishes. He gets a $5 deposit on the set ordered, total value $28.50, and says they will be delivered within a week or 10 days. More than a month has passed and the dishes have not been delivered.

The man is described as being middle-aged, heavy set, wearing glasses, a bit bald.

TROOP TRAIN CRASH SUSPECT ARRESTED

Telegrapher Alleged Involved In Mishap
Causing 21 Deaths Held At Parents' Home

By CANADIAN PRESS

Alfred John Arthur Atherton has been arrested in Saskatoon, Sask., on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the Canoe River wreck of a C.N.R. train last November. R.C.M.P. headquarters announced here today.

The 22-year-old telegraph operator was formerly employed at Red Pass Junction on the C.P.R., from which point it is alleged dispatcher's orders were incorrectly transmitted for a west-bound troop train and an east-bound passenger train.

Preliminary hearing of the manslaughter charge will be heard at Prince George, B.C. No date has yet been set.

The warrant for Atherton's arrest was issued by Attorney-General Wismer, following a Board of Transport inquiry into the wreck in Edmonton last month.

Twenty-one persons died in the crash.

(A C.P. dispatch from Saskatoon said today Atherton had been staying with his parents at Zeelandia, 90 miles southwest of Saskatoon, since he was suspended from duty following the wreck.)

(R.C.M.P. of the Saskatoon subdivision made the arrest. Atherton will be escorted to Prince George for preliminary hearing as soon as an R.C.M.P. escort arrives.)

(The accused man will be defended by John G. Diefenbaker, prominent criminal lawyer and member of Parliament for Lake Centre.)

Millions Of Shares At Record High

Millions of shares changed hands at record high prices on the New York and Canadian Stock Exchanges today. Volume at both New York and Toronto was over 3,000,000, making it the busiest day since November.

Nothing seemed to curb the enthusiasm of investors. On Wall Street the ticker tape ran three minutes behind in an early burst of buying. Steels, aircraft and autos led the way.

On Toronto, the mining market had its most active day for years. Golds continued their advance of Monday, and base metal and silver producers joined in the general scramble higher.

Dependents Of Hongkong U.S. Advised To Go

No Further Warning
Considered By Ottawa

HONGKONG (CP)—The United States Consulate-General said today it would warn all American citizens in this British Crown Colony tomorrow to evacuate their dependents because of "deterioration" of the situation in the Far East.

Consul-General Walter P. McConaughy told correspondents at a special press conference that the warning is "more or less precautionary" and that no actual emergency is seen in the offing.

(In Ottawa the External Affairs Department said Canada is planning no further warning to the 200 or more Canadians inside Communist China. Only a few Canadians remain in Hongkong.)

A Hongkong government spokesman said no similar action was contemplated by British authorities.

The Crown Colony borders on Red China.

McConaughy issued advance copies of the warning at the press conference and requested that it be given full publicity.

Claims Victoria Site Property Of Indians

The Provincial Government was asked today to settle a debt which B.C. Indians say amounts to millions of dollars for land it has acquired from them without payment.

The request was made by Andy Paull, president of the North American Brotherhood, who called upon Attorney-General Gordon Wismer at the Legislative Buildings.

The stocky-built Indian, a former lacrosse player and coach, said the government owed money to the natives for approximately 348,000 square miles of land in the province which, he claimed, according to law rightfully belonged to the Indians.

TO DISCUSS NATIVE TITLE

The attorney-general was asked by Mr. Paull to meet, as soon as possible, the B.C. Indians in council to discuss the whole question of the native title to lands in British Columbia.

The Indian, armed with legal documents, pointed out to Mr. Wismer that even the land on which the Legislative Buildings stood rightfully belonged to the Indians according to past treaties and orders-in-council.

"Even the land where the city of Victoria now stands belongs to the Indians," Mr. Paull said. "If you were to pay us for all the land you acquired from us without payment, the province would go bankrupt."

QUOTES DOCUMENTS

In support of the claim of the native population, Mr. Paull produced a copy of the proclamation of King George III issued in 1763 which ordered the Crown to pay for any land acquired from Indians.

The leader of the largest native organization in Canada also had other documents to support his claim. One of these was a decree of Queen Victoria in 1858 which requested that all lands acquired by the Crown in B.C. be paid for to the Indians.

Another was the report the 1875 of Hon. T. Fournier, Minister of Justice, and approved by the Governor-General-in-Council. The report said that with the exception to land on Vancouver Island given to the Hudson's Bay Company, the Indians had never surrendered any other parcel of land in the province.

The report added that it was the duty of the Crown to pay Indians for any land it acquired in the province.

The Indian spokesman said that British Columbia was the only delinquent province in Canada in its dealing with Indians rights to the land. "The province has only bought a few parcels of land from the Indians," he said. This includes land at Sooke, Saanich, Nanaimo, Puntledge and Rupert."

Battle Rages Through Night As Enemy Forces Built Up

By LEIF ERICKSON

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U.S. 8th Army's retreat to the old Pusan beachhead.

Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds.

An Allied regiment counter-attacked strong Communist forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

Allied artillery slammed shells into the Reds and fighter-bombers roared down in close support.

Field dispatches said the fighting still was raging shortly before midnight Tuesday.

The counter-attack six miles southwest of Wonju was in the area where the Reds gained a half-mile Monday and Allied forces later recovered most of the ground.

FOE BUILDING UP

But army intelligence reported the Chinese were building up a massive attacking force around Osan. At least two Chinese armies—possibly 80,000 or more troops—were spotted in the area.

The Eighth Army continued its retreat to the southeast. Vanguards of the fast-moving Red forces pressed close on the heels of rearguard troops.

Two patrol fights flared 13 and 14 miles southeast of Osan. These attacks put the Reds only 50 road miles—less by air—from the Kum River where the U.S. 24th Division began its tragic defence of Taejon last July.

The Korean Communists, but warked now by hundreds of thousands of Chinese who entered the war when the allies almost had it won, were retracing their route of summer conquest into South Korea.

The Communists walked into abandoned Osan Monday. Osan, 28 miles south of Seoul, is the town near where the first American soldier of the Korean war was killed last July.

Communist forces rushed Tuesday into the Osan area massing for the continuing pursuit of the fleeing Eighth Army. The Reds moved artillery southward across the Han River at Seoul.

An Eighth army spokesman said one force estimated at 10,000 troops was spotted near Osan.

ROADS CLOGGED

Allied pilots said Communist troops were clogging the roads south of Seoul and in the Wonju area 55 miles southeast. One airman said:

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there. They are all moving south."

The airman was ordered to shoot up all groups behind Communist lines, whether in or out of uniform, except for obvious family groups or children.

PARLEY WANTS RED CHINESE AT JAP PEACE

Conference Urges
Early Negotiations

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth Prime Ministers agreed today that Communist China should be among countries represented in talks on a peace treaty with Japan.

In a brief communique issued tonight, the Prime Ministers said they believe it would be possible to give recognition to Communist China for such a special purpose. Britain, India and Pakistan among the Commonwealth countries, recognize Communist China while the other Commonwealth members—along with the United States—do not.

The ministers agreed on the importance of formulating an early peace treaty with Japan. A spokesman said they agreed that all countries which took part in the war should be represented at a meeting to write a Japanese peace treaty.

They added that such a conference should continue even though some of the nations invited refused to attend.

In an earlier session, it was learned today a rough blueprint for defence of the Middle East by Australian, New Zealand and South African forces in the event of war has taken shape from Commonwealth meetings here.

It is known that some Commonwealth countries would like to see Canada also playing a part, but this was not pressed because it is appreciated that as the only Dominion to be an Atlantic pact member Canada already has commitments in Europe.

Guay Denied Reprieve In Bomb Murder

QUEBEC (CP)—Mr. Justice Albert Savigny of Quebec Superior Court today ruled J. Albert Guay, convicted mastermind behind the time-bombing of an airliner, is not entitled to a stay of execution, scheduled to take place Friday at Montreal's Bordeaux jail.

The high court's decision ended with the order that the 33-year-old jewelry salesman "must be executed Jan. 12, 1951" for murdering his wife Rita, one of the 23 persons killed when the airliner in which they were passengers exploded in mid-air and crashed at Sault Au Cochon, Sept. 9, 1949.

Guay's counsel later announced an appeal for clemency will be made to the Department of Justice.

The plea for clemency now is the only recourse left open to counsel for Guay.

The chief judge's decision said that "neither the request (for a stay of execution) nor the means invoked by the petitioner showed that during the trial of Genereux Ruest new facts were brought out to change the situation in which Guay found himself during his trial."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

FORT LEWIS ECHO

DURING my brief stay in Seattle last week I ran into several groups of Canadian service men who are in training at Fort Lewis, as part of the special U.N. combat forces. Their shoulder straps were, to me, a visiting card, and I couldn't resist the temptation to have a word with these boys who come from all parts of Canada.

Unfortunately, I didn't happen to meet any from Vancouver Island, but talked with several from the prairie and eastern provinces, who seemed delighted to have a chat with a fellow Canadian.

HOSPITABLY TREATED

IN the course of our brief conversation, the men paid warm tribute to the hospitality of the neighboring people to the Canadians stationed at the U.S. camp. The Americans are kindness itself in providing entertainment in their homes for the troops, and the camp quarters are "swell," I was assured.

But, from another source, I learned that the Canadian boys are under a bit of a handicap as compared with the American troops at the canteen, owing to the exchange rates which make the Canadian dollar of smaller purchasing power than the U.S. unit.

ARE HANDICAPPED

AS in all the U.S. camps, everything is available in the shape of entertainment such as ping-pong and other games, music and concerts at the camp, but when it comes to the canteens everything has to be paid for. And, with their exchange-reduced pay, our boys find that the outlay in smokes, the odd movie and occasional trip to town doesn't leave them with much change.

When it comes to reading matter, they have to pay for it. And, as one can well understand, the supply of Canadian reading matter in a U.S. camp canteen is very limited—even when paid for. There is no library there.

READING MATTER

THAT brings me to the purpose of this column. It was suggested by a Canadian veteran now living in Seattle that someone in Victoria might be willing to undertake the collection of books, Canadian magazines and other reading material to send to these boys at Fort Lewis.

Canadian newspapers—provided they are sent while the news is still comparatively fresh—and "whodunits" would also be warmly welcomed, the boys told me. And one can understand their hunger for "home" news, as the American papers do not feature any Canadian news except that of international importance—any more than Canadian papers feature U.S. "home town" stuff.

JOB FOR WOMEN

SO I am wondering if there is anyone sufficiently interested to organize this as a form of war work—even though we are not, officially, at war. But, to all intents and purposes, those boys who are destined either for Korea or some other foreign field, are doing a "war" job and, in the doing of it, will be far from home and loved ones.

However, before undertaking it, may I remind anyone interested that such a collection needs proper organization. If everyone with a few papers to spare were to send them off on his, or her, own, the resultant flood might be disastrous to those who have to handle it at Fort Lewis, and might defeat the very purpose for which it is intended.

RED TAPE AND RULES

ONE of the first requirements preliminary to a proper, organized collection would be to ascertain shipping possibilities and customs requirements. Unless these preliminaries are observed, the effort, no matter how well-meant, might be frustrated or hindered by the red tape which is a necessary concomitant to all over-the-border operations.

And a last word of warning—it needs a concerted, organized effort, rather than sporadic spurts of sending, to ensure a steady supply of Canadian reading matter for the troops who are there now and those who may follow them at this U.N. training centre.

Saanich Delays Decision On Reassessment Program

Continuation of the reassessment program in Saanich will cost another $23,000, F. S. Green, municipal assessor, told Saanich Council Monday.

Before deciding, the council will hold a special meeting. Mr. Green said $5,000 had been spent, and 2,024 parcels completed. Another 16,500 remain.

Councillor Kersey contended the survey would pay for itself in 1952.

Floating Yule Tree Mute Wreck Evidence

OSLO (Reuters) — A floating Christmas tree today was all that was found of the 443-ton Norwegian freighter Monty which Sunday night called for help off Arendal, South Norway.

It was feared that 11 men aboard lost their lives. In a final radio report the Monty said water was over the hatches, and both lifeboats had been destroyed.

105 Accidents

Traffic and other types of accidents each caused injuries to 27 persons during December, according to a report to the city police commission. Of the 105 traffic accidents attended by city police, damage exceeded $25 in 89.

Foster Arts Despite War President U.B.C. Urges

Despite the threat of a Third World War, it is essential that the arts, letters and sciences of Canada be fostered and developed so that all Canadians will realize that our way of life is worth the sacrifices needed at the present time.

This observation was made Monday night before a University Extension Association audience of more than 300 by Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and a member of the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences.

Speaking at the Victoria College-Normal School auditorium, Dr. MacKenzie advised Canadians to develop a pride in their country and a conviction about it.

The speaker apologized to his audience—which included Education Minister W. T. Strathairn—for having to speak in general terms about the Royal Commission. This was necessary, he said, because the commission's report has not yet been released.

But he was able to give an insight into the scope of the work of the group, which was appointed in April, 1948, and which was headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey.

TREMENDOUS INTEREST

The U.B.C. head said he was surprised at the tremendous interest shown in the 16 cities where hearings were held.

During about 200 meetings—120 of them public—456 briefs were received, and some 1,200 witnesses were heard. They represented 13 federal government institutions, seven provincial governments, 87 national organizations, 261 local groups and 35 private commercial radio stations.

Most frequent submissions were by radio and scholarship interests. There were a total of 176 briefs handed in by the former group, some concerned with, and some objecting to, the CBC not only operating stations, but controlling all stations, including those privately owned, and some concerned with improvements to the existing situation.

SCHOLARSHIPS FAVORED

The 143 scholarship submissions dealt with almost 100 per cent were in favor of federal assistance in providing scholarships for Canadians.

"I was pleased with the interest shown in that field, especially since I had no doubt whatsoever that when the commission was set up and during the hearings, the government was thinking of doing something to improve these matters," Dr. MacKenzie said.

He outlined reasons behind the establishment of the Royal Commission, and the terms under which it operated.

Suicide Prevention Attempt Kills Pair

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (BUP)—Two men, one from Ottawa and the other from Malone, New York, were shot to death here Monday night.

Police believe that the men apparently died in a struggle for a .32-calibre automatic when one tried to prevent the other from committing suicide.

The victims are identified as Jack Burke, 22, of Ottawa, and Richard Beshara, 53, of Malone, N.Y. Their bodies were found in a tourist court.

Scalded Wife; Jailed

MONTREAL (CP)—A 46-year-old man who said he could offer no explanation for having poured boiling water on his wife was sentenced Monday to three months in jail. Xavier Martineau, alias Mangeller, pleaded guilty to grievous assault.

Free Press Of Europe Lauds Truman's Speech

Morale Builder For All Nations Resisting Reds; Moscow Silent

LONDON (AP)—The free press of Europe today hailed President Truman's "State-of-the-Union" speech as a morale builder for all nations resisting Communist aggression.

Reflecting the general approval of the British press, newspapers in France, Belgium, Scandinavia and other countries under the Communist shadow said the speech would harden Western Europe's will to defend itself.

As yet there was no reaction reported from Moscow, but elsewhere the Communist press branded the speech as a new step toward a "war of aggression."

The independent Figaro of Paris pretty well summed up the western reaction with these words:

"The year of weakness is over. America has not forgotten the unfortunate consequences of appeasement."

The Times of London called for Britain's government leaders to "do as well in defining what the demands of readiness, without war, must be."

Two Candidates For Village Commission

LAKE COVICHAN—Gerald M. Hewlett, local business man, and W. F. Grosskleg, chairman of the village board of commissioners since 1944, will contest the by-election Jan. 13 for a vacancy on the commission.

Mr. Grosskleg was elected by acclamation last month, but resigned shortly after. He said that since his resignation he had been urged by a number of parties to enter the race again.

Yellow Point Area Roads Under Repair

LADYSMITH—Public works crews are busy in the Yellow Point area where they are graveling and grading Bennie's Road and Thomas Road. Some time ago residents asked for permission to use the government gravel pit and trucks in order that they could do the work themselves, but it is now being done as part of the regular planned road program.

WOULD ASSIST SECESSION

Residents of the Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay and Pandan areas are going to learn all the facts about Saanich. If they still wish to secede the Saanich Council will give them every assistance.

At the council meeting Monday it was decided to negotiate with ratepayers' associations to arrange meetings to discuss the situation.

Saanich Ups Dog Licenses

Owning a dog in Saanich may be more expensive in future.

Councillor W. C. Kersey at Monday's meeting suggested license fees be raised from $1 to $3 for males and from $5 to $7 for females, with $1 discounts for both if paid by April 1.

Council finally decided to raise charges $1, and still allow the $1 discount for prompt payment.

"People in many parts of Saanich feel a dog is a necessity," Councillor E. P. Cummins remarked.

Councillor Kersey's suggestion that oil burner and furnace permits be hiked was laid on the table.

Reds Conscripting South Korean Men

TOKYO (BUP)—The North Korean Army is conducting a "vigorous conscription campaign" in areas recaptured by Communist forces.

A headquarters communique said villages above and below the 38th Parallel are being raided by armed bands of Communists in search of manpower to bolster the number of North Korean troops.

Talks To Bring Germans Into Europe Army Start

BONN, Germany (BUP) — Secret negotiations for German soldiers in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European army got underway in Bonn, Germany today. Representatives of the U.S., Britain and France sat down with three former members of Hitler's general staff. It was the first time since the end of World War II that German military men have been accepted as equals by the western powers.

The talks began as the Russians, who have warned they will not "tolerate" West German rearmament, speeded up transformation of East German police units into a full-fledged army.

A reliable source in Berlin said the Russian military is training the police behind guarded walls in the east zone and already have 60,000 well-trained men prepared for "anything" the Russians order.

The urgent negotiations for West German troops in return for more equality started without an agenda but the main consideration was the Brussels proposal of German contributions of combat troops.

Painter Admits Torso Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — A house-painter confessed to Brooklyn's dime-locker torso slaying early today, officials said, a few hours after detectives nabbed him trying to flee his boarding house in pyjamas.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy and District Attorney Miles F. McDonald announced the confession by Pasquale Donofrio, 38.

McDonald said Donofrio admitted the slaying of Dorothy Martin, 37, of Saugerties, N.Y., last Nov. 25.

Epidemic Passes Peak

The epidemic swept in from Scandinavia, sending thousands to bed and disrupting industry.

Canadians Conclude First Operational Assignment

By BILL BOSS
PUSAN, Korea (CP) — A compact, heavily-armed force returned to the encampment of the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Monday night, completing the Canadians first operational assignment within the battalion.

The group, under Maj. Gordon Henderson of Calgary, made a 48-hour road reconnaissance for the battalion commander, Lt. Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C.

Col. Stone had ordered a check on all roads within a certain radius of his area, some reported guerrilla-riders. The most incredulous person encountered was a United States military policeman.

Spotting the still-unfamiliar tactical signs on the Canadian vehicles and the Patricia's shoulder flashes, he shouted: "Hey, do you guys speak English?"

The P.P.C.L.I. took up training positions two weeks ago at Miryang, about 100 miles from the present fighting around Osan.

The most admiring group the Canadians encountered in their foray was a number of Korean children at play yesterday.

In the presence of United States troops who were ingratiating themselves with the kids by gifts of candy and chewing gum, the Canadians still stole the show. The Korean children watched admiringly while the Canadians broke camp and cleaned their weapons before moving off.

Saanich To Vote Soon On Sewer Scheme

Recommendations from the sewer and drainage committee that every effort be made to place a by-law before the people before March 31 received the endorsement of the Saanich Council Monday.

The committee suggested the scheme include a pumping station to enter the northwest sewer at Harriet instead of the Esquimalt tunnel outlet, that the engineer devote all his time to the sewer problem and that the sewer area include the Paine and Townsend subdivisions on Shelbourne.

Further, it recommended that H. Blakeney, superintendent of works, act as works department "contact" man, while the engineer, H. D. Dawson, is engaged, and that extra help be hired.

The committee decided drainage problems in Colquitz River, Swan Lake and Blenkinsop Lake areas were fully the responsibility of the municipality.

War Coverage 'Blacked Out' By Censorship

U.N. Withdrawal Dictates Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Censorship is throwing a black curtain around news of the tremendous pullback of United Nations forces in Korea.

Field censors have clipped large chunks out of dispatches on the grounds of military security. Some Associated Press stories have arrived in Tokyo minus their first and most important paragraph.

Violators May Face Trials

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP) — This U.N. command announced today war correspondents violating censorship regulation will be subject to expulsion or trial by court martial.

The announcement said such action would be taken in extreme cases "where investigation proves that the circumstances warrant."

The Eighth Army's announcement was accompanied by a list of specific regulations by which censorship in Korea now will operate. Some of the points were covered in previous directives.

Correspondents "may be subject to disciplinary action because of intentional violation of these and other regulations, either in letter or in spirit," the announcement added.

Correspondents are not permitted to use the word "retreat" in connection with the pullback. Security officers in Tokyo say this is a planned and orderly withdrawal—not a retreat in the face of Communist China's overwhelming manpower.

(Webster's unabridged dictionary says "... A retreat is properly an orderly march, in which circumstances it differs from a flight, rout, etc.")

Needs Boys To Play Brass Instruments

Production Key To Low Prices C.M.A. Claims

TORONTO (CP) — The best remedy for rising prices, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association states in a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent, is the production of more raw materials and goods.

The letter, over the signature of W. F. Holding, president, states that 6,400 members of the association stand ready to pay their full share of the cost of the new defence program.

At the same time it submits that the taxation policy adopted should be so designed as to put a premium and not a brake on maximum production of all kinds; and to curb, instead of adding to, current inflation.

"It is essential that Canada's policy should be to achieve maximum production. In proportion as the productive capacity of the country is increased the taxation policy will be lightened," the letter said in part.

Record Increase In Lumber Scaled In B.C. In 1950

A record volume of production is expected in the lumber industry of B.C. for 1950 when final returns are tabulated.

The Provincial Bureau of Economics and Statistics reports an increase of 37.39 per cent in timber scaled during October last over the same month of 1949.

This increase, added to increases over the previous seven months of the year, results in a cumulative gain of 11.93 per cent for the 10-month period.

The bureau reports gold output during October dropped 22.9 per cent from the corresponding month of 1949; coal production in November was down 5.71 per cent; the dollar values of retail sales and life insurance sales were up 4.7 per cent and 14.63 per cent, respectively, in October over October of the previous year; gasoline and electric power consumption were also higher in October, by 12.03 per cent and 10.11 per cent, respectively.

The World Awaits The Verdict

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S state-of-the-union speech yesterday the supreme issue of world politics is joined. The American people through their Congress must now decide between the President's policy of defending Europe, the Taft policy of letting Europe defend itself while the United States fights in Asia and the Hoover policy of withdrawing into this hemisphere and fighting as a friendless garrison under siege.

The question raised by the Hoopers and Tafts is whether Europe is ready to arm, work and sacrifice for its own defence. That is a fair and essential question and the President answers it. Europe, he says, is showing by present rearmament that it is ready to defend itself—provided that it has the reassurance of United States' support, without which defence is hopeless and eventual capitulation certain.

The President's policy of defending Europe is based on historic, moral and practical reasons.

Historically Europe has never been expendable and all the great wars of modern times—the wars of Louis XIV, Napoleon, the Kaiser and Hitler—were all fought to prevent its domination by a single power. Europe, says Mr. Truman, is not expendable today.

Morally, the United States is bound to make good its covenants or abandon any hope of help from the friends without whom it cannot hope to survive.

And practically the surest and safest way of defending the United States is to defend Europe as a point of retaliation against Russia without which Russia's vitals would be beyond American reach.

The President having rejected either appeasement of Russia or American isolation in any form, the argument of the great assize may be considered complete in essentials though it will continue in detail. The Congress, which controls foreign policy through its military appropriations, alone can bring in a verdict. The verdict of the next few weeks, awaited as anxiously in the Kremlin as elsewhere, will largely settle the fate of mankind.

The hope of peace through strength, or victory if war comes, is not offered by the President on the cheap. He tells the American people candidly—more candidly than the Government of Canada speaks—that they face real impoverishment to pay for defence. They must endure shortages of goods, crushing taxes, irritating regulations, compulsory service for millions in the armed forces and, in short, the end of that more abundant life long promised them. This is the price of peace if it can be preserved, and a cheap price. It is the price of survival if war comes.

In another crisis nearly a century ago Lincoln told the American people that they must now nobly win or meekly lose the last best hope of mankind. That is the inescapable choice today, not only for the Americans but for all free men.

No Disguise Wanted

PROSPECTS OF AN INCREASE IN B.C.'s hospital insurance premium rates revive a point that must not be lost sight of in the heat of the controversy that is bound to follow. The point is a simple one. Annual deficits in the operating costs of the scheme must not be made the excuse for submerging any part of those costs in the general expenditures of the province. The hospital insurance plan must stand or fall on its own merits—and its own revenue.

Further debate on how to meet the heavy deficits so far incurred by the scheme will help to decide whether it is better to cut down on the benefits provided or charge more for them. The increase from $30 to $33 in July, 1949, has not balanced the books. But it will be a disservice to the people of this province if any system is permitted to become permanently established whereby expenses not covered by the premiums are financed out of general revenue.

This is not "free" hospitalization in any sense of the word. It is not a "socialist paradise" type of benefit in which one group of citizens pays for services to another. It is a straight insurance proposition in which everyone may take part with pride, and which must be made actuarially sound. We do not want to depend on taxes for what we have failed to pay in premiums. Resort to general revenue will blind us to the extent of the costs and the necessity of controlling them. Let's not disguise those costs with any fancy accounting. Let's have no foggy thinking about who pays for the service and how they do it.

The Balance Shifts

A HUGE ALUMINUM INDUSTRY ON the Pacific coast not only will enrich British Columbia but will alter the economic balance of the nation. Up to now, because it enjoyed the power and cheap transportation of the St. Lawrence, and because it was protected by high tariffs at the expense of every Canadian consumer, central of every Canadian consumer, the nation's heavy industry. At last heavy industry is coming to the west. A top-heavy national economy is moving toward something like equilibrium.

The aluminum industry and the numerous subsidiaries nourished by its surplus electrical power will be only a beginning in the utilization of the Fraser River as a producer of wealth. The Fraser can ultimately supply 6,000,000 horsepower of which the aluminum project will use a quarter. Some day the Fraser will do for western industry, in the production of power, what the St. Lawrence has done for the industries of Ontario and Quebec.

As man begins to harness the huge and wasted energy of the river the future of British Columbia as one of the world's great centres of industry and population can be foreseen.

Economic Time Bomb

WITH ITS EYE ON THE COST-OF-living index the public of America tends to overlook a much more significant thermometer, the level of raw material prices. The average price of key raw materials in the United States has risen 35 per cent in the last six months. Presently the materials so priced will be turned into goods and the retail price, of necessity, must reflect the original cost of production. A time bomb has thus been placed in the economic system and will explode in due course.

But that is only the beginning of the process. The inflationary pressure already generated. The big pressure will only begin, probably six months from now, when armament is taking more and more raw materials, leaving less for the ordinary consumer.

By the law of supply and demand (which no government has ever yet repealed) shortages of goods, faced by excessive amounts of money, or purchasing power, will drive prices up unless this forthcoming auction sale is called off.

It can be called off only by fiscal measures which bring purchasing power and goods into balance. Taxes, credit controls, higher interest rates and the rest will be painful. They won't be half as painful or unjust as run-away prices which a few pressure groups may escape by higher wages but which will crucify everybody else involved in the inflationary cycle.

The Boss On The Job

ALL BRITISH COLUMBIANS, whatever their political feelings, will rejoice to hear that Premier Johnson will be back in his office by the middle of the month. A cheerful man, the premier has not complained at his long convalescence and only his intimate friends know how greatly he has suffered. Inevitably the business of the Provincial Government has suffered, too, from his absence.

This difficult period, for him and his cabinet, is now near its end. Mr. Johnson will need his health and that fine strength of constitution which an athletic youth provided. His cabinet will need all its joint wisdom in the days ahead. Like democratic governments the world over, the Government of British Columbia is entering difficult times after a long period of comparative ease. As is true of all governments, the real test is still ahead. It will be good, therefore, to have the Boss back on the job.

Winter's Jolly Little Clown

THIS IS THE DEAD AND HUSHED season of the year when the Victorian hears the sharp little cry of Penthestes Atricapillus Occidentalis. Happily no one but an ornithologist knows him by that preposterous name. To everyone else he is the chickadee and one of the jolliest companions of winter. On some oak twig or the vine beneath the eaves you will observe him busily earning his living and greatly aiding men's farms and gardens by his ravenous consumption of insects. He cares nothing for the eight-hour day, for his own dignity or even for the laws of gravity. Half the time he is standing on his head, the chattering, unconscious clown of the feathered world.

In the darkest days this tiny and fragile bundle of life, with his cry of "chick-a-dee-dee," shouts confidently of better days to come. In a mad world the chickadee, who has a crazy sort of look, forever sings his little song of sanity and hope while other birds are cold and silent and men are gloomy in the winter of their discontent.

Let no man smile at the chickadee for standing on his head. That precisely is where human society stands today. And unlike the chickadee it has no wings of escape.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

I SEE THAT a well-known figure in English public life dropped dead while speaking at a dinner. There is nothing odd about this, except that his elder brother dropped dead while waiting to speak at a dinner, and their father dropped dead while hearing speeches at a dinner. No man could be more anxious than myself to be respectful to the dead and sympathetic to a surviving family, so it must be the Devil that prompts me to observe that many speakers, at dinners have wished for death, and far more listeners have wished it for themselves.

Speaking of these matters, I was talking with rather a wise old man the other night, and he said he couldn't see what the Atlantic Charter (remember that?) was getting at when it insisted on Freedom of Speech. He said that what the world needs is Freedom from Speech. You shouldn't have to talk if you don't want to, and above all, you shouldn't have to listen if you don't want to. The fiddle is supposed to be a very wonderful thing because it can resemble the human voice. But at least fiddles don't dare to be Daniels and hold opinions. Nor do they hold dinners and cocktail parties, or want to know how you are.

FORMOSA
A VANCOUVER columnist was saying the other day that Formosa BELONGS to China (his capitals, not mine). A lot of people say that, including most Chinese. And it is true that Formosa was given to China by the Cairo Conference, if it had that power. But assuming that we know what China really is (I don't, for one), what is her title? I had always thought that Formosa belonged to a large gang of head-hunters who were just about wiped out, at great cost and with immense difficulty, by the Japanese during their tenure of the island from 1895 to 1945.

THE JAPS ARE said to have stolen Formosa from the Chinese in 1895. But all the Chinese "owned" at that time was a few coastal strips and forts (mostly taken from the Dutch by the Ming refugees and taken from these by the Manchus invaders of China). If Formosa didn't belong to the Dutch, then it belonged to the native head-hunters, basely murdered by the Japs. At least, so I have always understood. And it seems a little upside-down to claim that having thrown off the wicked Manchu yoke in 1912, China now owns anything captured by those bandits. If the Manchus were wrong to capture China, couldn't they be wrong to capture Formosa? The only thing really Chinese about Formosa was that the Ming remnants ran there to get away from the Manchus. The fact that the Manchus held it doesn't prove Ming ownership.

BACK TO NORMAL

I AM ALWAYS amazed to see how quickly the postal service gets back to normal after Christmas. This is partly because the employees, plus their seasonal helpers, do a grand job and get every possible item to you by Christmas Day. But it is also because not very many people bother to thank you. If everyone thanked everyone who deserved thanks, the mails would be as crammed after Christmas as before, or very nearly. But people just don't... they, like the mails, are back to normal.

It is said "Well, of course, we're not so formal as we once were." I don't see anything formal about being nice or kind, or anything too disgustingly rigid about being courteous. I may be sentimental or crazy or both, but I sometimes get a kick out of dropping a note to a fellow after Christmas when I'd had time for only a card before. And I certainly get a kick out of receiving notes... no objections there, I trust.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

I WAS READING that every square centimetre of the sun gives off about nine horsepower in energy. Not all this energy reaches our fair planet, of course. In fact, not one two-billionth of it reaches us. But on the average, the sun sheds about 5,000,000 h.p. of energy on a square mile of earth. That seems like a lot on paper. But just walk outdoors in this particular climate in this particular winter. The last time I felt 5,000,000 horses frisking round a square mile was sometime last September. It seems to me that nine h.p. per sq. cm. may not be enough after all. Make it ten.

PLAIN FARE KILLED THE CAT

I HAVE a new cat named Sam. The children tell me he is named after Mr. Samuel Whiskers, though it sticks in my mind that Beatrice Potter's creature of that name was a rat, the very thing our Sam is hired to liquidate.

Anyhow, there are two queer idiosyncrasies of Sam's and I do not animals with individuality. (They all have it, but it is not encouraged.) One is that he has invented a word. He refers, to rats as MOO. It is not a miaow and not a mew. If you say either of these words he is not interested, but if you copy his special dictation about rats and say "Moo!" he will high-tail it for the basement to see if you are lying. He taught this word to us, not we to him, and he uses it only to tell us rats are about. The only thing is, he uses it for squirrels too, not having noticed their tails. Beatrice wouldn't have liked that.

The other trick is that he won't eat baked beans unless you put plenty of Sauce Diablo or mustard or curry or something like that on them. Then he'll gobble them up. I have proved this 10 times, over.

As Our Readers See It

SWEETSTAKES THE ANSWER?

The Minister of Health's public statement that B.C. Hospital Insurance premiums will probably again increase, calls for an immediate solution to keep payments down to their present level.

Hospital sweetstakes, administered solely by the Provincial Government, would be the most popular and practical remedy and should be adopted without further delay.

DENIS H. BESLEY.

2197 Lafayette.

HOSPITAL COSTS

I hear the hospital insurance premium will have to be raised owing to rising costs. This will mean very little to government members, and others who have had their salaries increased. But it will mean a great deal to those that are unable to do this and who are already over-burdened by unnecessary high prices.

I say unnecessary because the present high prices could have been avoided had the federal government reinstated controls when prices began to rise. These controls are still possible any time the provincial governments demand them.

In the meantime, instead of raising the insurance premium, I suggest that the service cost for each patient be reduced or limited to a certain figure and any cost above that amount the patient would have to pay.

This method, in my opinion, would be more just to all concerned than raising the premium and especially for those who are unable to increase their income.

SAANICH SERVICES

One of your recent correspondents objects to fair criticism of the lack of services in urban Saanich. I would ask this: Are Saanich roads, other than provincially controlled, in reasonably good shape? Are sewers needed? Is surface drainage good? Are there open ditches? Are street lighting and garbage collections adequate?

People who live on high ground in Saanich can perhaps say that they have little to complain of re lack of sewers and drainage, but there happen to be many thousands living in low-lying areas who are definitely at a disadvantage.

Saanich has been incorporated as a municipality since 1906 and conditions mentioned have been more or less acute for many years.

Had Saanich done the essential work and planning years ago, services could have been bought for about 25 per cent of today's cost and the longer it is left the more costly it will be.

Let's hope that proper groundwork for overcoming these conditions, both legally and financially, will be exercised during 1951.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

INCREASE OF RENTALS

Your columns contain quite frequent references to complaints about the increase in the cost of living, including complaints about the increase in the cost of rentals.

In fairness to the owners of rented property, we feel your readers' attention should be drawn to the fact that rentals have only increased about one-half of the increase in the cost of living index. The latest official figures show that rent has increased by 36.4 per cent, as compared with the average during 1935-1939. The overall increase during the same period is 71.1 per cent. Food has increased in the same time by 118.6 per cent.

Official statistics do not give a separate figure for fuel, but your readers' and tenants' attention might well be drawn to the actual cost of fuel as exemplified by the experience in one building in Victoria, B.C. In this case the cost of heating rose from $696.50 in 1945 to $2,089.74 in 1950, i.e. nearly three times as much.

ATHEISM AND THE DATE

Webster defines an atheist as "one who disbelieves the existence of a God or a supreme intelligent being."

Does one question the historic Christ? Christmas rises up to give the answer. This great anniversary is only one of the many marks by which the atheist acknowledges Jesus Christ. The festive celebration—be it gracious greetings, the giving and receiving of presents, rational merrymaking, orgies or a holy day observance—constitutes an acknowledgment. As an anniversary it touches the financial, industrial and commercial world, inasmuch as it is a national holiday throughout all Christendom.

The dates of all history and documents, both B.C. and A.D. eras, are reckoned from the birth of Christ, according to our calendars. Aside from your correspondent, Mr. Pepper's prolific letter-writing it is quite certain that at some time or other he has entered into a written agreement or contract of some sort—probably a good many—none of which would be valid without a date of our Lord at the head of it. This sets the commencement, since time is the essence of the contract. Thus do we acknowledge God, unwittingly or otherwise.

Fish And Power

THE RUSH of salmon to the spawning grounds is one of the recognized wonders of nature. Why they fight their ways through rapids and wriggle over shallows to particular redds is a mystery. Compelling as their instinct is, though, they cannot leap a high waterfall.

The habits and abilities of salmon explain in part why fisheries men are not too worried about the dams which will shut off great bodies of water in the Nechako region, west of the top bend in the Fraser, provided the aluminum industry carries out its projected hydro development there.

The simple fact is that the lakes upstream from the dam are not salmon spawning grounds. Entrance to them is blocked by the high falls of the Nechako.

DIVERTED DRAINAGE

Briefly, the engineering plan will divert the water west of the proposed Nechako dam from its natural drainage into the Fraser. Instead, the project would carry that water, vastly increased by being impounded, west through man-made tunnels to empty eventually into Gardiner Canal.

If there were no further complications than use of the lakes which will be impounded, fisheries men would have virtually no concern over the effect on spawning conditions for the valuable runs of salmon to the northern lakes and tributaries which flow into the Fraser. It isn't quite as simple as that. The outflow from the lakes that would be dammed is the highway up which the salmon travel. They must, for instance, have a deep enough channel on the Nechako from Prince George to Finmoore to reach the Stuart River and go up it to Stuart Lake, a spawning ground of growing importance since facilities for fish transport were placed in Hell's Gate, far south on the Fraser.

Damming the Nechako upstream from Finmoore, where the Stuart joins it, will, engineers estimate, reduce the volume of water in that stretch of the Nechako by 55 per cent. That may lower water levels to a point at which salmon cannot swim up to Stuart River unless the channel is dredged.

Fisheries officials are aware of that danger. They know that where a big river now runs there may be shallows so extensive that the upstream traffic of salmon is stopped. The point the fisheries experts make is that they expect to have to improve and deepen channels at certain places.

OVERCOME DIFFICULTIES

They expect some loss of fish, but they think they can overcome their difficulties provided close co-operation is maintained with the aluminum interests.

They would like, for instance, to see an arrangement whereby enough water would be spilled from the dam on the Nanika River to meet spawning needs of salmon coming up that waterway from the Skeena. Control there might even be better than existing natural flow. Destructive flood conditions could be avoided.

Sports fishing might suffer considerably by elimination of some steelhead spawning grounds, but that species and other trout would still flourish in the lakes concerned as soon as new grounds were established.

Fisheries men take a realistic attitude to their industry. They know they are going to lose fish, but to an extent negligible in comparison with the greater economic good the new aluminum industry could do the province.

It's a matter of compromise in the use of resources. And since the extremely valuable Chilco run is not in jeopardy, now hydro development is listed in the more northerly section, they have no fight on their hands.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THERE used to be," said the Elevator Man, "an old story about a fella who ended up some far-fetched yarn with the challenge: 'And if that's not true, may a bolt of lightning hit me.' Just as he said it there was a loud clap of thunder overhead. The fella ducked and muttered, 'Easy, easy. I was only joking.' Well, somewhat the same sort of test happened down in Virginia the other day. A parson was preaching to his congregation on 'Overcoming Fear.' Right in the middle of the sermon a bolt of lightning hit the belfry of the church.

Not a soul stirred. In fact the whole crowd sat there fearlessly for another 25 minutes until the sermon ended. Then somebody quietly went outside and called the fire department to put out the belfry fire. That's preaching! Going up!

"Maybe," said the Elevator Man, "we could all do with some talk like that these days. The lightning's struck and the belfry's burning, but a lot of what we hear doesn't make us want to sit in our seats and listen to the rest of it. Instead of overcoming fear, it raises an immediate interest in the location of the nearest exit. Churchill had the gift. So did Roosevelt. But it's not a thing you can leave in your will. And, of course, you don't want the talk to go on too long. After all, there's more than bats in that belfry. There's flames. Going down!"

"But even preachers," said the Elevator Man, "get downhearted sometimes. Likely you remember that story about a clergyman who enjoyed an occasional game of golf. One day a parishioner had beaten him badly. 'Cheer up,' said the victor. 'Remember you win at the finish; you'll probably be burying me some day.' The preacher remained glum. 'Even then,' he said sadly, 'it'll be your hole.'"

Turning Over Old Leaves

The Times of London

PRIDE in absent-mindedness may be chastened by the story of the living author of rows of honored books who once asked his publishers, anxiously and in good faith, whether he had yet delivered or had still to begin a promised work. Rabbits of reading, depressed by the prowess of the boa constrictors, can draw comfort from that glorious feat of memory in reverse. As they take down the novel they first met at school and have browsed in a dozen times since, they will find that part of the plot and the names of all save a few minor characters return to them without help from the eye—and the bits that they had forgotten or never noticed look all the sweeter.

Half the joy of turning over old leaves comes from this mixture of past discoveries regained and of brand new ones missed at first reading. If, sometimes, memory takes charge and lifts its owner beyond the page and into recollection of sights and scenes and friends among whom he formerly knew his neglected book, only a pedant will convict him of feeble concentration.

As a man may sit happily with those he loves without talking, so may he stare into the fire with a favorite volume on his knee.

COLEMAN'S COLUMN

By JIM COLEMAN

One of the tragic sporting pictures of the day is presented by Joe Louis, an honest, middle-aged athlete with a widening bald spot atop his noggins. After destroying an animated punching-bag named Freddie Beshore last Wednesday night, Louis acted as if he had overpowered a panther with his bare hands. In an excess of enthusiasm, Louis intimated that he is just about ready to fight Ezzard Charles and regain his world heavyweight boxing championship.

Sober critics of le boxe may be forgiven if they question Joe's theory that the destruction of Beshore indicates a future beating for Charles. This is tantamount to taking a fast swim around your bathtub and then announcing that you're ready to conquer the English Channel. Louis already has tackled Charles once and he took a bad thumping. Joe's publicists have been making much of the fact that he shed the enormous total of eight pounds between the time that he fought Charles and then toyed with the harmless Beshore. Why, we know, butchers whose THUMBS weigh more than eight pounds! We suggest to you solemnly that the loss of eight pounds wouldn't exactly convert the 36-year-old Louis into a gazelle in the ring.

They Never Come Back

In any event, historic precedent suggests that there is little hope of Honest Joe regaining his heavyweight title if he insists upon another fight with Charles.

Gentleman Jim Corbett was the first heavyweight of modern times to attempt to regain his championship. He had lost the title to Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons who buried a boxing glove in Corbett's stomach.

Gentleman Jim was a stubborn fellow and he essayed to wrest the championship from Jim Jeffries who, in his time, had sand-bagged Fitzsimmons. Jeffries flattened Corbett in 23 rounds in 1900. Apparently Corbett brooded over this and—three years later—he indicated that he hadn't been convinced and sought another bout with Jeffries.

Jeffries obliged by knocking out Corbett once more—this time requiring only 13 rounds.

Fitzsimmons, too, was a stubborn man. Three years after losing to Jeffries, he was rash enough to demand another bout. Jeffries patiently knocked him stiff in the eighth round.

Of course, Fitzsimmons was a physical curiosity. He was 35 years old when he beat Corbett and 37 when he dropped the championship to Jeffries. He continued to fight until he was 52 and in those years he was kayoed by Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Jack Johnson and a comparative pugilistic nonentity named Bill Long.

Mind Over Matter

Even Jeffries couldn't resist the lure to attempt a comeback after he had retired, undefeated, in 1904. Six years later (at the age of 35) he was coaxed out of retirement to fight Jack Johnson for the world title. Johnson slaughtered him in 15 rounds.

After losing the title to Jess Willard at Havana in 1919, Johnson proved that he was a wise man. Never did he attempt to regain the championship and he confined himself to fighting bums who provided him with mild exercise.

Willard, for his part, was rendered unconscious by Jack Dempsey, under sanguinary circumstances, in 1919. Willard didn't get another shot at the title but he accepted an ill-considered engagement with Luis Angel Firpo who mangled him in eight rounds in 1923.

This brings us to Dempsey who—along with Louis—usually is named as the greatest modern heavyweight. Dempsey, after years of soft living, yielded his crown to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia in 1926.

Louis Should Read History

Dempsey, too, defied tradition. He took another crack at Tunney at Chicago in 1927.

It is quite likely that you have seen the motion pictures of that second fight. There was Tunney—the master boxer—stabbing, punching expertly and then out-manoeuvring his tiring opponent. There was Dempsey, relentlessly stalking his enemy, pinning all his hopes on one crushing punch.

Dempsey finally landed that devastating blow. But the younger, superbly-conditioned Tunney, shook off the effects of the clout. He outran Dempsey as his head cleared.

Now the great Joe Louis is talking of another championship bout with Ezzard Charles.

We suggest to you, seriously, that it will be a repetition of the second bout between Tunney and Dempsey.

Charles isn't any Tunney but he's fast and he's strong and he's a good boxer.

We can see Charles, now—stabbing and dancing away as Louis follows him around the ring wearily, throwing those punches that become weaker and weaker as the strength drains away from a great champion who didn't know when to quit.

SWIM MEET SATURDAY

Strong Field Expected For Invitational Gala

Nearly 150 swimmers will see action in the Crystal Gardens Saturday night when Victoria Amateur Swimming Club holds its first invitational swim gala of 1951.

Vancouver swimming coach Percy Norman has already notified that he will be bringing 60 competitors from the mainland club, headed by Gerry McNamee, holder of the Canadian junior mile championship.

Other clubs taking part include the Crescent Beach club and the Victoria Flying Y Swimming Club.

MANY EVENTS

There are 20 events scheduled for the big meet, including contests for seniors, juniors and juveniles. Each club will be allowed two competitors in each event.

Largest number of entries and strongest competition is expected in the junior and juvenile divisions which are particularly strong in the Victoria clubs.

The Y.M.C.A. team is expected to be known Wednesday and V.A.S.C. will choose their competitors Thursday.

The gala gets under way Saturday evening at 7.

STEVE GROMEK SIGNS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steve Gromek signed with Cleveland Indians Monday and predicted he will do better this year under the tribe's new manager. "Don't get me wrong, I always liked Lou Boudreau," said the 31-year-old pitcher, "but he didn't have confidence in me. I merely feel I'll have more confidence in myself under Al Lopez."

Arrows Stretch Unbeaten Skein To Six Games

Down Vikings To Increase Senior Hoop Leadership

Victoria College Vikings held the league-leading Arrow Furniture in the regular Victoria and District Senior B men's basketball fixture at Vic High gym last night, but only for the first 10 minutes. Arrows won 52 to 33 for their sixth straight victory.

Once they had broken through the Vikings defence the Furniture men racked up 17 points without a single reply and were never headed for the remainder of the tilt.

STANDINGS	W	L	T	P	A	Pts
Arrow Furniture	6	0	0	0	0	176
Shamrocks	4	1	0	0	0	174

Vikings	2	4	0	0	0	236
Scott & Peden	4	4	0	0	0	236
Elks	1	4	0	0	0	154

Arrow strength was in the evenly-divided scoring punch, with five players sharing evenly in the offensive.

PETTIGREW GOOD

The senior B women's game was high-lighted by the performance of Helen Pettigrew who got 22 points for the Moose, downed 42 to 34 by an evenly-balanced Comet team.

Comets had a 31 to 23 advantage at the halfway point and Moose countered point with point through the final quarters.

In the junior boys preliminary, St. Louis College lost 29 to 21 to First United.

Line-ups and standings follow:
Arrows—B. Rowe 10, Anderson 12, R. McKay 12, Bamford 10, Ranson 1, Gorden, H. Rowe, Total 52.

Junior Soccer Registrations Are Requested

Secretary Don Gray has announced today that a general meeting of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association is to be held in the British Public Schools Club Friday evening at 8.

Teams are being asked to have all players properly registered before the meeting, as applications for city and provincial knockout competitions will be taken. Last date for entries is Jan. 31.

The league-leading juniors, Vets of France, had a close call over Heaney's at Beacon Hill Park Sunday. A penalty shot by Allan Blair with five minutes remaining gave the Vets a game that might just as easily have gone to the movers.

Spectators were treated to an excellent performance by the new Esquimalt junior team as they downed Duncan Native Sons, 3 to 2, at Bullen Park in their first league appearance.

Earl George scored two for the losers, forcing Esquimalt to come from behind twice. Gerald Adams, Jack Wright and Ollie Johnson tallied for the winners.

At Windsor Park, Tillieums won from Pitzer & Nex 3 to 2, and Esquimalt dropped a close 2 to 1 decision to Combines at Victoria West. Both games were division one contests.

Olympic Skating Trials Dates Set

SASKATOON (CP)—Canadian Olympic speed-skating trials will be held here Feb. 3 and 4, Craig Mackay, president of the Saskatoon Speed Skating Club, announced last night.

The Canadian team for the 1952 Olympics at Oslo, Norway, will be selected at the Saskatoon trials.

Mackay also announced the Canadian speed skating championships will be held in Winnipeg in mid-February.

Prized Golden Gloves Trophy

This gold-and-ivory trophy, emblematic of the amateur boxing supremacy of Vancouver Island, will be presented by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace at the close of the Times-sponsored tournament to be held here March 31. In preparation for the big tournament the Victoria Association of Referees and Judges is meeting at Prince Robert House tonight at 7.30. Allan Duval extends an invitation to men who are interested in providing competent refereeing and judging for the coming contests.

Name Konstanty Athlete Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Konstanty, record-setting workhorse of Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff, was selected 1950's male athlete of the year today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The onetime school teacher, whose tireless right arm carried the Phils to the National League pennant, won in a close vote over Vic Janowicz, Ohio States' football halfback, and Ezzard Charles, heavyweight boxing champion. Leon Hart, All-America football star at Notre Dame, topped the poll in 1949.

There was a wide difference of opinion among sports writers and sportscasters, who mentioned nearly 100 athletes, including the race horse, Noor, and Japan's human fish, Furuhashi. The bespectacled 33-year-old Konstanty received 32 first-place votes and a total of 173 points, 33 more than Janowicz who won All-America honors. Points were awarded on the basis of three for first choice, two for second and one for third.

Here are the year's outstanding male athletes, according to the AP poll, with total points and first-place votes in parenthesis:

1 Jim Konstanty, baseball (32) — 173
2 Vic Janowicz, football (28) — 140
3 Ezzard Charles, boxing (21) — 123
4 Phil Nizanto, baseball (20) — 120
5 Don Hogan, golf (26) — 112
6 Sam Snead, golf (16) — 88
7 George Mikan, basketball (11) — 69
8 Bobby Reynolds, football (7) — 36
9 Babe Parilli, football (6) — 33
10 Eddie Ford, baseball (4) — 31

Manitoba Rinks Dominating Nipawin 'Spiel

NIPAWIN, Sask. (CP)—Manitoba curlers, who have had marked success in car bonspiels since the rich events started in Nipawin five years ago, yesterday were in the limelight again as the first four qualifiers in the 16-day rink knockout competition were decided.

Three skips from Winnipeg advanced to the finals in No. 1 event. They were Howard Wood of the Granite Club, winner of the first car 'spiel here; Grant Watson of Strathcona, twice winner of cars at Nipawin; and Leo Johnson, also of the Strathcona Club, who won the cars at the Edmonton bonspiel last fall.

The other place in the finals was filled by E. B. (Ole) Olson of Edmonton.

Semi-finalists from the three other events also qualify for the two-group, knockout play leading to the best-of-three final for the cars.

Needing but one more victory in No. 2 event were W. G. Taylor of Rivers, Man.; W. Schmitt of Arbrofield, Sask.; W. J. Duncan of Virden, Man.; E. W. Gerrard of Regina; G. Stewart of Spy Hill, Sask.; O. Fenrick of Chocoma, Sask.; and Lawrence Borson of Antler, Sask. They entered the eighth last night.

The other place will be filled by the winner of today's match between Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg and the Campbell brothers of Avonlea, Sask.

Dotten Threatens Ironmen; Promises Shake-Up In Club

SEATTLE (AP)—Owner Frank Dotten, almost speechless from a throat infection, managed nevertheless to say last night he plans a big shake-up in his Seattle Ironmen of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Top-Bracketed Teams Hold Edge In Play

While the fans chewed pencils and cogitated over their choice for an all-star combination at the Memorial Arena last night, the Commercial League's speed artists put on an excellent show.

In the opening tilt, the Harris-Corby-Coulter line for Civil Service put a 4 to 2 chill on Navy; in the second game Grant, Gunter and Markle of Douglas Tire were prominent reasons for the 6 to 4 defeat of Capitals; and in the nightcap the Varga-Lacree-Swanson combination was responsible for six of the goals that downed Meteors 7 to 1.

PENALTIES COUNT

Sailors gave Civil Service a big lead early in the first game when a penalty to Belavie for holding the puck let Les Corby and Steve Harris in for goals within 40 seconds of each other. Navy's play was further disrupted early in the third period when defenceman Doug Johnson was banned for boarding Ray Ball so hard that the Civil Service flyer had to be carried from the ice with a torn leg muscle. As if in revenge, the deskmen peppered Norm Jones with a barrage of shots that paid off with clinching markers by Rod Hallam and Gordie Keats.

Navy marksmen were Archie McLean and Dave Hill.

RAGGED HOCKEY

In the second canto of the evening Douglas Tire showed much better finish around the nets than Capitals, with Ron Markle showing his best form of the season to date.

Markle's picture goal in the third period, when he beat two successive defencemen and tricked John Dorey, turned out to be the winner. Junior Archie Courtall, who also played a terrific game, supplied the marginal marker with three minutes left to play.

Notwithstanding the one-sided score, the Co-Ops-Gladwell game

Mrs. C. Wallacecko, Adam's Park, Lethbridge, Alberta, is a traveling saleslady. She is a very interesting life. Like everyone else, though, Mrs. Wallacecko occasionally has health troubles, particularly nervousness which affected her stomach.

Mrs. Wallacecko heard about SARNAK and started taking it. Although she had tried many different remedies, Mrs. Wallacecko tells us that SARNAK was the first thing to bring her relief. Up until the time she took SARNAK she would be sick every morning. Her stomach was so upset through nervousness that it would produce nausea and sickness. Here is what Mrs. Wallacecko told us about her experience with SARNAK in her recent letters:

"I can't praise SARNAK enough for what it has done for me. For years I have suffered with backache and stomach upsets. Every morning I would be sick to my stomach. After taking two bottles of SARNAK I seem to have a new lease on life. My backache is relieved and I am no longer sick to my stomach. After telling my friends what SARNAK had done for me, I personally had to get eight bottles for different people. If you have some literature concerning SARNAK, I will gladly give it away as I travel the country."

Yes, you should try SARNAK... as have thousands of others in Canada who suffer from rheumatism, neuritis and arthritic pain, sciatica, backache, lumbago or neuralgia, some minor forms of kidney and liver upsets, bilious dyspepsia, nutritional anemia, lack of vitality and nervousness caused by these symptoms. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general run-down condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

It was a big week-end for sport in Victoria—English rugby, soccer, basketball and hockey clubs scoring victories in intercity and international competition. This is something out of the ordinary for Victoria representative teams and the results should be viewed with an eye to the future.

First we'll take the Tide's McKeechie Cup win over Varsity. Coach Sid Gaunt said before the match that the locals would win, but few took the former professional star seriously. The Tide made good for Gaunt and but for a lack of scoring punch near the line might have made the result more decisive. They had that wide a margin in play.

The same could be held true for Victoria United, the much-maligned soccer eleven, whose trials and tribulations this season have been given more play in the press than the players' actual soccer ability. United meets its stiffest and most important test this Saturday against North Shore and no one will be surprised if manager Tommy Restell and coach George Kulai accomplish the "impossible" and bring the finals back to Victoria.

'Visuals Visualize Title

For manager Don Woodhouse and coach Art Chapman, Individuals cage victory over Alberni Athletics puts Victoria in a position to bid to the B.C. finals once again. Improving with every start, the 'Visuals have proven that they are the equal of coach Porky Andrews' up-landers and a real, slam-bang island final is forecast before the championship is decided. And not that such a series won't be welcome with the better spectator accommodation facilities out at the Badminton Hall to cater to the customers. And don't be too surprised if ducks become scarce ere long as 'Visuals take over where the Dominos left off a few years ago.

Pleasant Surroundings

But now we come to another feat—Jerry Cotnoir's new P.C.H.L. goalkeeping record. You can't win when you can't score goals and opposing teams have been finding Cotnoir a real stumbling block of late, and playing a vital part in the Cougars' rise to the .500 won and lost mark has been this Seattle castoff.

Perhaps the reason that Cotnoir likes it here in Victoria and says the Cougars are one of the friendliest clubs he has ever played for or traveled with, may have something to do with his transformation.

It will be recalled that Cotnoir, last year's leading northern division goalie, started this season with Seattle, and to put it bluntly, had little success. Frank Dotten shipped him off to the Cougars, and though at the time Cotnoir's acquisition was frowned upon by the fans because his forebearer Hee Highton was extremely popular, Cotnoir has now earned his spurs and is one of the most-liked members of the club.

Best In League

Since coming to the Cougars, Cotnoir has compiled a goals-against average of 2.75 per game and that includes two games when seven goals were pumped into the Cougar net. This 2.75 mark is the best in the league though Cotnoir's over-all average, including his games with Seattle, is far above that figure as his record with Seattle was a dismal 4.16.

The 25-year-old native of Shawinigan Falls finds Ken Elliot of New Westminster Royals his most troublesome opponent, though he readily admits that a goalie's biggest nightmare is a screened shot.

Cotnoir is also a baseballer of no mean ability and may shortly be interviewing Reg Patterson with the object of catching a place on the A's for the 1951 season. A catcher by trade, Jerry once managed a team but found out he had lost the job when he returned from a week's honeymoon. "Guess I shouldn't have given myself the time off," says Cotnoir now.

"All right, you put me out of the game—must you basketball referees be so dramatic?"

Stamps Trip Flyers Again

EDMONTON (CP)—Calgary's galloping Stampede last night trounced the league-leading Flyers 6 to 1 to continue their recent domination of the Edmonton team in Western Canada Senior Hockey League play.

The victory, the cowboys' sixth in their last seven meetings with Flyers, boosted them to within three points of the league leadership and they have a game in hand. So far this season the teams have met 15 times, with Stampede the winners in eight contests.

Veteran goalie Russ Dettell came within 11 minutes and 40 seconds of a shutout. He was finally beaten by Flyer rookie Lloyd Ferguson who capped a brilliant dash through the Calgary team by line-mate Doug Anderson.

Norm Larson led the Calgary attack with two goals. The others were scored by Johnny Millard, Bob Gilhooley, Hub Anslow and Mitch Pechet.

Howe Maintains Two-Point Lead

MONTREAL (BUP)—Gordie Howe, classy, 22-year-old Detroit right-winger, was atop the National Hockey League scoring column for the second successive week today, sporting a meagre but clear-cut two-point margin.

Howe showed a total of 40 points on 16 goals and 24 assists, according to official league figures.

Toronto's Max Bentley, who had led the scoring race for almost two months, was in second place with 38 points on the basis of 15 goals and 23 assists.

Tod Sloan, another member of the Maple Leafs, held third place with 32 points, one more than Maurice (Rocket) Richard of the Montreal Canadiens.

RICHARD TOP SNIPER

Richard, who scored the 271st goal of his N.H.L. career last Saturday, was the leader among the snipers, with 21.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit continued to pace the goalies with an average of 2.03 goals allowed through 38 games.

Gus Mortonson of the Maple Leafs was the individual penalty leader with 88 minutes of en-

SYDNEY Australia (Reuter)—Fighting against heavy odds from the time two of her leading bowlers were injured on the second day, England was beaten by an innings and 13 runs by Australia today, fourth day of the third cricket Test match.

Mangrum Tops L.A. Open; Snead Third

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Lloyd Mangrum walked away with first prize money in the 25th Los Angeles Open golf tournament Monday, while Henry Ransom, who thought he had the tournament in the bag, took second place after losing a five-stroke lead to the winner.

Mangrum played superbly and had the breaks to come from far behind. The Chicago pro scored seven birdies and three bogeys on his final round for a four-under-par 67.

Ransom scored four bogeys and said his chief trouble was that he came out with less than his usual number of birdies. He had only two.

Mangrum's $2,600 first prize was his second in an L.A. Open. His 280 and Ransom's 281 were the only sub-par scores. Mangrum won the 23rd L.A. Open at Riviera Country Club in 1949 with a par 284.

Sam Snead, who disclosed after the third round that he had a broken bone in his left hand, took third place with 285, despite a 73 on the final round.

Bill White Bought By A's

Business manager Reg Patterson of the Victoria Athletics today announced the purchase of outfielder Bill White from Shreveport of the Texas League for an undisclosed sum. White will be remembered as a member of the 1947 Athletics.

Rocks Name Delegates To Boxla Meeting

Andy Ovcharik and Ralph Baker, re-elected as president and manager respectively of the Victoria Shamrocks, will attend a meeting of the Inter-City Lacrosse League at Vancouver tonight and Saturday. The meetings are expected to be concerned with Vancouver Mayor Fred Hume's suggestion that the league be enlarged on the lines of the P.C.H.L.

At a general meeting last night, where last year's officers were returned, the capital city club went on record as favoring the extension of the franchise to Nanaimo, which was one of the recommendations made by Hume.

Other officers and officials returned were Alex MacDonald, vice-president; Arnie Ferguson, playing coach; Dean Blackstock and Dusty Mair, trainers.

Red Mason declined a second term as secretary-treasurer and a successor will be selected by the executive.

Clippers Drop Third Straight

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers, although they rampaged for six goals in their third period, last night dropped their third inter-league contest in as many nights.

Kimberley Dynamiters of the Western International Hockey League scored twice in overtime to win 8 to 6.

They had to survive a big scare to do it. Dynamiters led 5 to 0 over the Mainline-Okanagan League leaders at the end of the second but, at the end of regulation time, Nanaimo had roared back to make it a 6 to 6 deadlock.

Veteran Red Carr sparked Nanaimo's last-period uprising with two goals and an assist.

Johnson Tracks Temper Tale; Can't Pin A Thing On Walker

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—I just chuckled my pith helmet, elephant gun and tse-tse fly netting into the ash-can.

The Johnson safari into darkest Hollywood to find the last exponent of movie temperament turned out to be a fizzle.

Robert Walker, who's been rated high in the nerve-popping, blowtop league, let me down.

As a door-slamming, director-withering, vexed-to-the-hilt star, Walker's a washout.

Yep; there's no temperament left among the celluloid Swahills.

It's gone the way of the string orchestra that used to fiddle Gloria Swanson and Pola Negri into the right camera moods.

"Temperament?" Walker repeated on the "Strangers on a Train" set at Warners. "That's a lot of horse feathers."

I reminded him of the printed reports and Walker blinked behind his heavy, horn-rimmed glasses.

Years ago, he smiled, "I worried about the things that were written about me. Now I don't care. I'm a darned good father. I mind my own business. My last four pictures at M-G-M couldn't have gone more beautifully and this loan-out to Alfred Hitchcock is fine, too. Do you know the only thing that would get a rise out of me? If someone wrote that I was a lousy actor. Otherwise, I don't care."

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Spike Jones' Recording Session Causes 'Shellshock'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Spike Jones was finishing up a recording session and lucky it was, too—I was getting shellshocked.

The Mahatma of music deprecation had fired several dozen rounds of blanks from his revolver, pausing to remark, "I'll run Randolph Scott out of business." When the record-making was over, we piled in his costly convertible and hid to drive in for lunch.

Now Spike is more than a mere music mangler; he is also a serious devotee of the art. He listens to music almost constantly during his waking hours, and that includes Bach as well as boogie-woogie. So I asked the professor what he predicts for the music world in 1951.

DANCE BAND REVIVAL

"I think the new year will bring a revival in the dance band business," he replied. "It's too bad that it had to happen this way, but the national emergency ought to bring a big upsurge in the ballroom business."

"After all, there are going to be a lot of soldiers and sailors cold and lonely in strange towns. The warmest thing they can do is dance. That makes sense, doesn't it?"

"I also think that the emergence of a new dance will help the band business. I don't know what it will be. It might be a dance to the mambo, which is a rhythmic Cuban style of music that seems to be catching on. Or it might be just a variation of the old dance styles, for instance, when the charleston was revived, the youngsters did it with some jitterbug steps thrown in."

I asked about future trends in popular songs. Spike predicted a continuance of the folk music fad which brought such 1950 hits as "Mule Train," "Riders in the Sky," "Goodnight, Irene" and the present winner, "Tennessee Waltz."

Spike is currently marshalling his screwballs for another four-month tour of the U.S. and Canada.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

One of the marks of the great expert is the ability to defend a hand with imagination and precision. The hand shown today illustrates those qualities admirably and shows why the whole world of bridge regards Howard Schenken as one of the all-time bridge greats.

After cashing the ace of hearts, Schenken decided that the contract could be set only if his side could get a diamond trick in addition to the heart and the two trumps he could confidently expect to win. He could win a diamond trick if his partner had the queen or if he could prevent declarer from getting enough discards on dummy's long clubs.

At the second trick, therefore, Schenken led the king of diamonds. Dummy won with the ace of diamonds, and declarer hopefully cashed the ace and king of spades, continuing with a low spade.

After winning the first of his two trump tricks, Schenken stopped for an additional moment of thought. It would be useless to cash his second trump trick, for then dummy's clubs would give declarer all the discards he needed.

It was useless to lead another

Gracie Fields May Make Canadian Tour

LONDON (CP)—Singer Gracie Fields, sailing for New York today on private business, said she may make a Canadian tour during her visit.

British newspapers quoted her as saying she thinks Canadians "make perhaps the most enthusiastic audiences in the world."

Fridolin Invades Ontario To Score Unparalleled Success

TORONTO (CP)—An overwhelmed capacity audience of Toronto first-nighters Monday saw the evidence from which it has been claimed by his native Quebec that Gratien Gelinas is the top personality of Canadian theatre as player, producer and playwright.

He could hardly have received a warmer welcome at home. The sad-faced little French-

Canadian, better known as Fridolin from his famous revues, scored a tremendous hit with his play, "Ti-Coq," and in all three capacities — actor, director and author.

It was the first English-language performance outside

Montreal. "Ti-Coq" meaning "Little Rooster," a strong drama impregnated with the life and breath of French-Canada, won over the Toronto audience almost at the start of its 12 scenes.

EVEN in repose, the small spaniel looks a little sad. Hers is not the deep, abiding sorrow of the bloodhound, which has something in his face that reminds you of the Hollywood version of a retired Indian Army colonel. The little spaniel is not weighed down with grief. She seems, rather, to be touched lightly with some divine melancholy.

The warm, brown eyes that gaze up from under the kitchen range are only mild in their reproach, but you think there is reason behind that look, and you feel slightly guilty. Since she lost her needle sharp milk teeth, she has counted as part of her meal crisp, oven-dried crusts. They are broken up and mixed with her meat to form a dish that is pleasing to her particular canine palate.

NOW THAT the seven-day diet is in vogue, there is competition for the oven-dried toast. The slightly overweight male in the household is allowed no butter and little bread. He prefers the latter dehydrated.

It's a bit unfair to the spaniel. The overweight male has hands. He can open the oven door and extract the slices, and he does. Try as he might, though, he can't help feeling the sad eyes gazing at him from under the stove as he eats his meagre ration. In them he senses all the pathos of the starving child, nose pressed to the window of the restaurant where the fortunate dine on plenty.

It is too much, this stare of the dispossessed spaniel. What shall it profit a man if he regain his old waistline and lose the affection of his dog? The continuing, gnawing hunger of an unfilled stomach he could stand. The testy disposition that sent him reaching for the paddle to discipline fractious children, he could endure, in spite of signs of rebellion from the youngsters. The wistful eyes of the spaniel, though, are breaking his heart. The diet must go. It's unfair to the small creature.

A PERSON can be generous in such circumstances, much as he may have wished to take off weight. He can yield his vanity in the interests of his dumb friend. For the sake of domestic happiness, he can forego his slimming, compromising by punching another hole in the short end of his belt.

Where uncertainty and distress has resided, happiness will come. The muted voices of children, subdued by an unstable adult temper, will ring out again in glee. The crusts from the loaf ends—which the youngsters declare doesn't make their hair curly and they don't want curly hair anyway—will be reserved for the dog. Only a father will suffer as he is forced back to real food. That's natural enough. Part of a father's make-up must be sacrifice. There'll be compensations, too. He'll escape the accusations of a small spaniel's eyes.

A MAN walks in another world when he reads the soft, oozing sand of the beach at low tide in night time. His rubber boots settle at each step, sinking into the soft surface where eel grass spreads its carpet and sets down its roots.

Familiar objects are strange in the starshine. Old rocks that wear a friendly face in daytime, loom dark and forbidding against the lesser dark around them. A weathered log shows, pale and ghostly, where a careless tide has flung it. The image of a star is caught, imprisoned, in the wet scum of sand, and shines like a gem.

THERE IS a breathing on the shore-line, a sibilant exhalation that speaks of exhaustion. A crab scurries among the small stones, dislodging some, and the noise is magnified. There is a wriggling and small splashing in a shallow pool where some creature of the sea has been trapped. Eerie hissing comes from the piles where mussels and barnacles cling, and small whispers travel through the bunches of growing seaweed.

Though there is warmth in the air from the sea, there is a chill of strangeness in the night that makes a man, walking where the ripples protest the receding of the tide, feel he is on forbidden ground. Even the rich smell of help and the sulphur of sand new-exposed, takes on a different character. An alien world throbs with an unknown life.

Six young Victorians responding to call to join reserve forces were attested at Bay Street Armouries Monday night for service with the Canadian Scottish Reserve Army battalion. Maj. J. Warburton swears in Gordon A. Hawkes. Waiting to take oath are Stanley George Hawkes, naval veteran; John Damgaard, army veteran; William E. Copley, J. A. Shipley and Jim Caldwell.

Govt. Had No Alternative On Landings Carson Replies On Mill Bay Ferry

The provincial government had an obligation to provide proper landings for the Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry service when between $250,000 and $300,000 was spent on the terminals last year, it was stated today by Public Works Minister E. C. Carson.

He was replying to criticism of Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A., that this expenditure should not have been undertaken without some assurance that the service would be continued another five years.

Mr. Carson said the service couldn't have been continued up to the expiration of the old contract in December if the work on the wharves had not been carried out.

"We had no alternative but to fix the ferry slips and as far as continued service is concerned, it was our understanding the option for another five-year contract would be taken up," the minister said.

It was not anticipated, however, that the contract holders, Coast Ferries Ltd., would ask for an increase in annual subsidy from $5,000 to $21,300—over four times the amount.

Mr. Carson said much of the new equipment installed at the ferry slips could be salvaged if necessary.

"But remember," he added, "we haven't said the ferry service will be discontinued. All we have said is that the $21,300 subsidy requested is too high."

Apportionment Board Presents Report Shortly

The apportionment board dividing assets and liabilities between Saanich and the newly-formed municipality of Central Saanich will have its report ready in a few days.

William Crouch, former Saanich reeve and chairman of the board, said the board is awaiting replies from only a few quarters to complete the sharing of responsibilities between the two municipalities.

"We should have it ready for Municipal Affairs Minister MacDonald within a short time," he said. "There are only a few details to complete now."

With former councillor Kenneth R. Genn of Saanich, and Lorne Thomson, representing Central Saanich, or the old Ward Six, the board has been at work since October 2.

Denies Difficulty With Arena Clock

Reports that a main cable had broken on the arena clock were denied today by F. N. Cabell, chairman of Memorial Arena Commission.

Sound system workmen were going over the speaker installation. In the course of work, the end of the electrical lead-in wire got caught in the winch cable which was open at the time, he said.

"The electrical wire was damaged but was repaired promptly. There was no question of any damage to the main cables holding up the clock."

Mayor George To Attend Conference

Mayor George will leave Victoria Jan. 20 to attend a meeting of national executive and national advisory board of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Montreal Jan. 24 and 25.

The group will then travel to Ottawa to meet with the Prime Minister and cabinet Jan. 26.

Policy statements will be made on civil defence, wage, rent and price controls, status of municipal public works projects during the present period of national defence preparation.

Saturday the mayor will attend a meeting of the joint committee on education finance of the B.C. Teachers' Federation in Vancouver.

Police Seeks News Of Saanich Plasterer

George W. Hartley, aged between 22 and 24, of Henson's Apartments, Gorge Road, who has been missing since last Thursday, is being sought by Saanich Police.

He is reported to be 5 feet 10 inches tall, fair complexioned and of slim build. He is a plasterer. Persons having information on Hartley's whereabouts are asked to contact Saanich Police.

Veteran Picks Victoria As Thesis For Degree

A U.S. veteran has come all the way to Victoria with his wife from North Western University, Evanston, Ill., to obtain the data for a thesis for his Ph.D. degree.

Malcolm Robinson, burly fair-haired student, picked Victoria for his thesis because he feels that a city of this type is going to play an important part in Canadian and United States life in the future.

"This is largely a tourist city," he said today, "and tourism is a very vital factor in North American life. So too is retirement, and in Victoria I am making a special study of the section of the community which falls into the retired category."

Robinson has had a great deal of assistance from his wife, Anna, who took a masters' course in geography at Syracuse University, New York, and it was while they were studying together there that they became engaged.

No Tax Reduction Likely In Saanich Says Reeve Casey

Saanich Municipality will do well if it can keep taxes at the present level, let alone consider reducing them, Reeve Joseph W. Casey has stated.

Some residents thought that with Ward Six now apart from Saanich that a reduction of taxes would be in order.

Reeve Casey pointed out that police and fire departments cannot be reduced as they are at a minimum strength and revenues from Ward Six have been lost. Councillor W. C. Kersey, finance committee chairman, said that reducing taxes in the face of so much necessary work and the recent drainage mandate would be folly.

Retailers Fighting Gas Control Lift

Trades' Association Unanimous In Recommendation To Members

Executive of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Garage and Motor Trades' Association will recommend to the general membership the sending of a delegation to the provincial cabinet to oppose the reported proposed lifting of controls from the petroleum industry.

This decision was reached at a meeting Monday night. The recommendation will be made at the annual meeting of the branch scheduled Monday.

Executive members discussed the question at length and were unanimous in the opinion the de-control of gasoline prices would mean hardships on the motoring public.

"We feel quite certain there will be no price advantage on a long-range basis for gasoline consumers," a spokesman said.

FEAR PRICE WARS

Price wars would result, it was agreed, but in the long run the cost of gasoline to the car owner would be above the present cost, which was the lowest in any province in the Dominion. If controls, effected 13 years ago, had not been advantageous, surely the government would have scrapped them long before now, it is argued by the service station men.

In the 13 years there had been no serious objections to the controls from the public or the retail operators, they say. Any objections voiced came from the oil companies which wielded the "big stick" two years ago when the supply of gasoline was shut off for a time.

"In fact," it was stated, "the companies have been endeavoring to undermine the Coal and Petroleum Control Board almost from the beginning."

It was suggested that if controls are removed, the service station operators may organize stronger than they are now to endeavor to maintain standards. This might mean higher prices for gasoline.

Elderly Couple Back From Holy Land Trip

Feeling between Jew and Arab in the Holy Land is still pretty tense, Harry Phillips, of Santa Clara Avenue, Saanich, reports following his return from a four-month trip which took him and his wife to Palestine, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

Mr. Phillips, who is 74, and his wife, 76, they enjoyed their trip very much and are none the worse for the long journey.

It was Mr. Phillips' third visit to Palestine.

NEW LEASE OF LIFE

Higher Silver Price To Help B.C. Mines

By HARRY YOUNG

The increased price of silver by over ten cents per fine ounce may give a new lease of life to a number of low-grade silver mines in British Columbia which have been out of commission for some time.

Within recent months, the general boosting of base metal prices has encouraged the mining companies in the province, where many of the mines produce mixtures of zinc, lead, silver and gold.

The increase in the price of silver will naturally help all these mines," said an official of one of Victoria's brokerage firms today. "It is too early to say whether any mines will be reopened purely on the increase in the silver price, but it's a possibility."

EXTRA $200,000

He went on to say that in the case of Torbritt which was a producer of silver only, the increase in silver price might mean an extra $200,000 to the company.

It will also help United Keno Hill—perhaps the biggest producer of silver in British Columbia, if not in the Dominion.

The increased price comes at the right time for the Cronin Babine mine which has recently issued more capital and is shortly to reopen. Court Province is another base metal mine, owned by Base Metals which is soon to reopen. Both Cronin Babine and Court Province have a good proportion of silver in their ores.

On the Toronto and Vancouver markets the mining markets were strong with silver producers leading the way to the higher prices.

BRANDY BEST SEASICK CURE

A man who has been cooking meals for passengers aboard Royal Mail Line ships for 30 years, today gave his recommendation for the ideal seasick cure—a good stiff shot of brandy.

Fred Taylor, chief cook on the line's Loch Avon, now loading for U.K. at Ogden Point, said he would take that recipe over the latest in drugs and seasick pills.

"Passengers don't miss more than a meal or two nowadays—the brandy settles their stomachs," the Liverpool chef said as he bent over a king-sized pressure cooker about the size of a large office safe.

Plans Proceeding On New $750,000 Naval Barracks

National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa has passed preliminary plans for the construction of the new naval barracks at H.M.C.S. Naden.

The plans have been drawn up by Briley, Wade and Stockhill, Victoria, and that firm is now getting to work on the final plans.

The building will be a single block of reinforced concrete and will provide housing for 600 men.

The architects say that the cost of the building and the probable period of erection are meantime speculative, but that it is a priority job and will be tackled at the earliest moment.

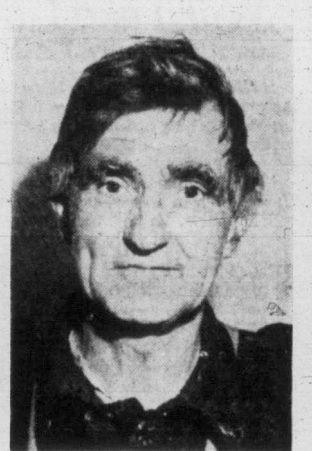

Unofficial estimates are that the construction will cost about $750,000, and that the building will be completed within 18 months.

EDWARD WEEKS

JOHN G. WILLIAMS

Ship's Steward Helped Relieve War Monotony

War at sea had its relaxing moments, among them special dinners in beer gardens and pirates' dens.

At least that's the way Edward Weeks helped ease the monotony for the men aboard a British aircraft carrier in which he served during the last conflict.

Now chief steward on the Royal Mail Line's Loch Avon, currently loading 1,000,000 feet of lumber at Ogden Point, Mr. Weeks recalled setting up a "beer garden" on the flight deck, then hastily moving below decks into the hangar when rain set in. Rain in one's beer is not just the thing, he noted.

The pirates' den was another stunt he arranged while in port—and this time women visitors had to walk a plank to get to their tables.

SAW ATOMIC BLAST

On the more serious side, Mr. Weeks displayed pictures he took of atom-bomb damage at Nagasaki shortly after the deadly blast. From his ship patrolling some 75 miles off Japan, the steward, then a warrant supply officer, saw the mushrooming pillar of smoke when the bomb was dropped.

The Southampton man is on his first visit to this coast after serving in Royal Mail ships on the U.K.-Brazil run. He likes Canada, too—the friendliness is "something like I've never seen before."

Also aboard the big cargo-passenger vessel is the ship's carpenter, John G. Williams, better known as "Chippy."

A native of Fishguard, Pembrokeshire, the grizzled seadog has been afloat for more than 40 years, 33 of them with the Royal Mail Line.

He has been with the Loch Avon since she was built three and a half years ago, and called here before that on the Loch Katrine, which was torpedoed and sunk during the war.

The 61-year-old carpenter comes from a sea-going family—his father and grandfather visited this coast in sailing ships "in the salt pork days."

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Crippled Brother Urges Sister To Marry; She Disliked Idea Of Leaving Him; Feels Stymied

Dear Mary Haworth: I have never read of this problem worrying anyone before, but I would like to have your appraisal of it. Usually I have fairly good judgment, but I can't seem to strike a balance in relation to my brother. I am 24. He is a year older and was born crippled. He is very good to me, and while I think any two people living together have occasional spat (as we do), he really looks out for my interests.

He tells me he would like to see me married with a home of my own, because that is the best life for a girl—which I think is kind of him, because I know it would break him up to lose me. He has a nice personality and makes a decent living as a radio technician, but he is a little dependent upon me socially. He is a little slow.

Mary Haworth about making friends, preferring to stay home and read or play solitaire and tinkering with his various collections, but he can mix easily and he enjoys my friends; and I know they all like him.

I would like to have my own home, too, but I am not sure I would be able to make myself move to another town and leave Harry. We think lots of each other and he is not bitter, demanding or spoiled. I think I would worry about his being alone; and from what he says, I gather this attitude is one-sided. He says I mustn't be stand-offish from people; that I must make it my business to find a good husband. But I never could go off and forget my brother completely. One of my girl friends told me that if she were in my place, she wouldn't even be seen with my brother. She says this hurts my chances of marriage, as it causes people to think I am peculiar, and tied down with too much family responsibility. I haven't had much to do with her since that remark. Just what are my responsibilities to my brother? He thinks I have none; but I can't accept that idea. I just feel as if I'm pulled in two directions. But still, I'm not sure who is dependent upon who. Am I using this as an excuse for not growing up? Please answer soon. D. R.

SHE IS JEALOUS, NOT PROTECTIVE

Dear D. R.: It appears that your attitude toward your brother is as clinging as a kitten; and I think your alleged protective sentiments cover a blend of infantile dependency and fiercely possessive jealousy. As I get the picture, there are two general reasons why you shrink from marriage, or the idea of making a home apart from your brother. And neither reason is magnanimous or admirable, in my opinion.

You don't want to marry, or go off and leave Harry, firstly for fear he might "forget" you, in the sense of developing a consolation companionship with some other girl, who might come his sweetheart and then his wife; and therefore possibly closer to him than you have been. That is a prospect you cannot abide—the prospect of his path and yours parting significantly at some crossroad, as he goes one way and you another, with brother and sister no longer all-in-all to each other.

Secondly, you hate to relinquish the role of perennial juvenile in a "we" relationship, such as you've had with Harry for 24 years. Just as you say, you don't want to grow up. You feel unequal to the proposition of being a woman, a wife and mother—unconsciously afraid of the manifold obligations involved.

BROTHER'S ABLE TO STAND ALONE

From my viewpoint it seems obvious that you are more dependent than Harry; and that he would breathe more easily if you had a husband to give your life normalcy. He might miss you a great deal if you moved to another town; and still much prefer that arrangement to having a spinster sister on his hands for life. In a warmly tactful, sincerely solicitous way, he is trying to steer you in the direction of wholesome social growth, before you lapse into a hermit's routine from which there may be no escape.

Your friend's advice, though crudely phrased and a bit extreme, was excellent and to the point. It is peculiar to behave as if you were your brother's consort, or keeper, as the case may be. And it does greatly reduce your chances of marriage—and life without marriage is pretty meager for the average woman. From what you say, Harry is financially able to take care of himself, and psychologically disposed to be self-reliant; so why don't you pay heed to his words and find yourself a husband? I shall add to your friend's advice by saying—stop making excuses for doing nothing. M. H.

Burgess Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Silence speaks for knowing ears
Wise in other people's fears.
—Old Mother Nature.

It had been very, very still in the green forest. There were no dry leaves to rustle, for the ground was covered with snow. Anyway, not a single merry leaf breeze was about to rustle a leaf that had still been no snow. When it is as still as it was then even a small sound is heard at a distance. So it is no wonder that when Chatterer the Red Squirrel began to scold Reddy Fox, and make fun of him because he could climb trees as Chatterer can, his voice traveled clear to the foot of the great mountain. Spite the Marten had just come down from the great mountain. So had Croaker the Raven. Both heard that noisy tongue, and the mouths of both of them watered just a little. You see, a plump red squirrel is just about as good a dinner as either of them hope to get in winter.

So both started to look for Chatterer. Spite traveled through the treetops whenever he could. He did have to come down on the ground sometimes; but most of the time he could travel by jumping from tree to tree as you have seen a squirrel do. However, Spite could jump much farther than any squirrel. So he could travel in the treetops where no squirrel could.

The nearer they got to that scolding voice, the louder it became. Spite grinned as he heard it. He knew that Chatterer was excited. He knew that Chatterer was scolding someone who was trying to catch him, or hoped to catch him. Croaker knew this, too. Both hoped that whoever it was would stay right where they were and keep Chatterer busy with that scolding tongue of his. While he was busy that way he wouldn't be watching for other enemies. They were just a little more than halfway to where Chatterer was when he stopped scolding. It had been still before his noisy tongue began to wag. Now that it had stopped wagging it seemed even more still. Spite stopped in a treetop and listened. Croaker stopped in another treetop to listen. Both of them understood that sudden silence. It was just as if the silence was speaking to them. It is that way with the people of the green forest and the green meadows. They can often read the silence as readily as the sounds they hear.

"Ha!" exclaimed Spite under his breath, "that fellow is frightened!"

Spite looked up at him and snarled

ened. I wonder what has scared him."

Croaker was thinking the same thing. Both were wondering if some other hunter had discovered Chatterer. They knew that that noisy tongue of his would not have been so suddenly silenced unless he had had a sudden fright. For a few minutes both kept quiet listening. Then once more Spite moved on through the treetops and Croaker followed. Spite did not need Chatterer's voice to guide him. He could go straight to the point from which he had last heard that voice, and this is what he was doing. He was almost there when Blacky the Crow saw him. "Caw! Caw! Caw!" cried Blacky at once, he began to circle above the tree in which Spite was. Spite tried to dodge out of sight, but he was trying to dodge a pair of the sharpest eyes in all the green forest. Spite looked up at him and snarled. Yes, sir, he looked up at him and snarled. You see he knew that Blacky was telling everybody within hearing just where he, Spite, was. He was warning everybody that there was another hunter there in the green forest, and of course Chatterer was listening to that warning.

HEARD WARNING
It was true Chatterer did hear that warning and Chatterer was probably the most frightened Squirrel that ever wished he had held his tongue still. You see, at the foot of the tree he was in was Reddy Fox, and because there was no other tree quite near enough for him to jump to Chatterer was a prisoner in that tree.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

As is common with derogatory epistles, there is no signature to this letter, but I am answering it anyway.

It says, "I write out of sheer curiosity. Have you ever had a child? Your column of several weeks ago aroused me. Any woman who would wait until two years to train a child is out of her mind and you are a little off to uphold her."

"Don't you agree that every child at the age of two has a little pride? My children did. I have watched many a mother try to train a child of 15 months and she got what she deserved, no co-operation, screaming fits, an upset baby. If you have children of your own you know this."

"My children were put on the toilet at six weeks, completely trained at four months, no more wet diapers at 10 months in the daytime. The halt at night came just before the first year. My children are now three and eight and healthier, better-balanced children you have never seen. My point is: Why do you mislead young mothers who look to you for advice?"

If you read the title of this column, which is "Your Baby and Mine," you would deduce that I have children — three grown-ups and six grandchildren. One of the findings of Mid Century White House Conference which I attended was, "The way parents, teachers and other professional persons feel about children is more important in teaching them and helping them grow, than the specific methods and techniques the adults use."

This is a primary consideration and helps to explain why some parents, such as yourself, get apparently good results with universally repudiated practices.

There is not one authority in the field of child development who espouses or even gives consideration to the methods of toilet training you used. You did not get "co-operation" from a child of six weeks or four months or even 10 months, because the child was unable to be more than a passive object whom you put on the toilet. If your children were predictable in their wetting and soiling you could "catch" them. Your children and no other persons' develop such capacities for control this early.

The desirable time to begin toilet training is when the child becomes self-conscious about his own behavior, notices the puddle on the floor, holds himself before he wets, shows uneasiness when he needs to "grunty."

Then he is able to co-operate, because he is conscious of the products of his own body (the anal phase of development), and takes pride in exerting control over them. Since this is the consensus of all authorities, I shall continue to emphasize this.

Our leaflet No. 65, "Toilet Behavior," may be had by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

LOOKING GLASS

The smart girl will learn to use lipstick so that it enhances the beauty of her mouth and face. As important as the lipstick is a lip brush which will help her to create a cleanly drawn outline of her mouth.

Round face should have lips drawn to give the appearance of a thin line; a square-shaped face calls for natural lip curves unless the lines of mouth are too straight or thin. In that case, curves may be built up discreetly. Too pronounced lip curves will emphasize the width of the face. Too obvious effects of re-creating a mouth will look artificial and unbecoming to a young face.

A long face will appear shorter if mouth is made up as full as possible and lipstick color is carried to extreme corners.

Dark, exotic shades of lipstick are often tempting to the teenager, but should be left for the use of mature and sophisticated women. New pinker light rose shades are best choice for young girls.

Former Winnipeg Citizen Urges Women To Support Town Planning Commission

"I was very disturbed to read that members of your town planning commission had handed in their resignations," said Mrs. W. J. Shepherd, national convener of housing and town planning with National Council of Women, when she addressed the Local Council of Women, yesterday afternoon.

"If you knew the growing pains we suffered in Winnipeg before we persuaded the City Council that the Metropolitan Planning Committee should be kept going, it would encourage you to keep your town planning commission functioning here.

"It was only through continual prodding of such groups as the Local Council of Women, I.O. D.E., affiliation organizations and men's groups that the committee was kept afloat when interest lagged."

Mrs. Shepherd, formerly of Winnipeg and now in Victoria to make her home, is representative of National Council of Community Planning Association of Canada and also honorary secretary of the Metropolitan Planning Commission for four years. "If care is not exercised in planning in Victoria and surrounding municipalities much of the beauty of your city, and it is famous the world over, will be lost," she warned.

"The advice of town planners should always be sought and used as a guide.

"Don't let your city be butchered!" she concluded.

Mrs. Shepherd is working at present on exhibits of two houses representing the ideal housing in Canada in the post-war period, to be presented at the triennial congress of International Council of Women in Athens, Greece, this spring.

Mrs. A. M. Perry presided and reports were presented by Mrs. H. I. McKenzie, observer at the milk board inquiry and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, United Nations.

Delegates named to the three-day provincial annual meeting to be held Feb. 28 at the Y.W.C.A. are Mesdames A. M. Perry, Elliott, E. E. Harper, Blair Reid, A. E. Hopkins.

DO YOU KNOW THESE SIGNS OF WASTEFUL TIRE WEAR?

(a) Excessive wear in centre of tread, caused by over-inflation.
(b) Scalloped appearance, caused by tire being out of balance (and possible faulty brakes).
(c) Feathered edges, caused by faulty alignment of wheels.

These conditions mean wasteful tire wear and can lead to blow-outs and defective steering.

We recommend a check on wheel alignment and tire balance every 3,000 miles, and we have the precision equipment to do it right.

SO TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR TIRES TODAY!

Expropriation Suggested Of Iron Ore Properties

Possibility is seen in political circles of legislation to allow expropriation of unworked iron ore properties from owners refusing to sell to persons willing to develop a steel industry in B.C.

Mines Minister R. C. MacDonald hinted at this Monday night when he said there were iron ore properties in B.C. which have been held unworked for 45 years.

He said he was prepared in view of the national emergency, to consider measures to make it possible and to develop these properties.

A plan of expropriation read between the lines of Mr. MacDonald's statement would no doubt have a system of payments under arbitration for the original owner of the properties.

Mr. MacDonald's address, rejected, indirectly, the suggestion of Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew that should the province care to ask, the Dominion would finance a drill survey of the ore deposits here.

YEAR'S FINES TOP $38,000

City police court fines levied in 1950 totaled $38,214, $783 less than the 1950 record.

Price Cutting Legal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday price-cutting in good faith to meet competition is not a violation of U.S. anti-trust laws. The court's 5-to-3 decision came in a case questioning the right of Standard Oil Company of Indiana to lower prices to meet those of a competitor.

Alberni Civic Union Refuses Wage Offer

PORT ALBERNI—1951 agreement negotiations between District 70 School Board and Alberni District Civic Workers' Union collapsed Friday night when the union refused a three per cent wage increase. Clauses concerning a medical plan, seniority, and paid holidays were agreed upon, but in refusing to consider the wage increase offered the union delegates said they would ask for a conciliation board to view the matter.

C.N.R. Employee Arrested In Fatal Crash Aftermath

Charged With Manslaughter

By CANADIAN PRESS

Alfred John Arthur Atherton has been arrested in Saskatoon, Sask., on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the Canoe River wreck of a C.N.R. train last November, R.C.M.P. headquarters announced today.

The 22-year-old telegraph operator was formerly employed at Red Pass Junction on the C.P.R., from which point it is alleged dispatcher's orders were incorrectly transmitted for a west-bound troop train and an east-bound passenger train.

Preliminary hearing of the manslaughter charge will be heard at Prince George, B.C. No date has yet been set.

The warrant for Atherton's arrest was issued by Attorney-General Wismer, following a Board of Transport Inquiry into the wreck in Edmonton last month.

Twenty-one persons died in the crash.

Police Raid Red Offices In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Sixteen thousand Communist books, leaflets and circulars have been seized by Quebec provincial and Montreal police in a series of raids aimed at smashing the Labor-Progressive Party's propaganda centre here, it was learned today.

Acting Provincial Police Director Hilaire Beauregard, disclosing results of the raids, said police had uncovered evidence that local Communists were working in close touch with the Reds of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, France, England, the United States and several countries behind the Iron Curtain.

DOUK HEAD WINS CASE

Allies Slow Up Red Foe

By LEIF ERICKSON

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U.S. 8th Army's retreat to the old Pusan beach-head.

Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds.

An Allied regiment counter-attacked strong Communist forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

Allied artillery slammed shells into the Reds and fighter-bombers roared down in close support.

Field dispatches said the fighting still was raging shortly before midnight Tuesday.

The counterattack six miles southwest of Wonju was in the area where the Reds gained a half-mile Monday and Allied forces later recovered most of the ground.

Campbells Still In Bonspiel Race

NIPAWIN, Sask. (CP)—The curling Campbells of Avonlea, Sask., stayed in the race for Nipawin's bonspiel automobiles today with a 13-end, 10-9 victory over Winnipeg's Jimmy Welsh.

The Welsh defeat, his second 13-end loss of the bonspiel and by an identical score, pushed the former Canadian champion into event No. 3 where he still has a chance to recoup.

The Campbell's victory put them in the eighth of No. 2 event where the rink, which won the two sets of cars last year, needs one more victory.

'Sole' Was Where U.N. Got Boot

TOKYO (AP)—A navy lieutenant was lettering the names of Korean cities on a big map in the censor's office here tonight.

He turned from the map as an afterthought and asked the correct spelling of Seoul, the abandoned South Korean capital. He had spelled it "Sole." It's pronounced that way.

"Leave it the way it is," said a Colonel. "That's where we got the boot."

Layne To Meet Cesar Brion

NEW YORK (AP)—Rex Layne, upset conqueror of Jersey Joe Walcott, and Cesar Brion of Argentina will meet in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 9, it was announced today by Al Weill, matchmaker of the International Boxing Club.

Layne, of Lewiston, Utah, moved high into the heavyweight picture Nov. 24 when he gained a 10-round decision over the veteran Walcott, who was a 1 to 5 choice.

In his last start, Brion was outpointed by Joe Louis, the former heavyweight champion, in a Chicago 10-rounder, Nov. 29.

Britain To Drop Costly Peanut Plan

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain tonight announced she is virtually scrapping her £36,500,000 (about $109,500,000) East African peanuts experiment because it has proved "incapable of fulfillment."

The scheme launched in 1946 by the Labor Government to bring oils and fats into the national larder from 3,000,000 acres of jungle and bush will be cut back to less than 200,000 acres under cultivation by 1957. What's left of the scheme will be administered by the Colonial Office, not by the Food Ministry as in the past.

The announcement in a government white paper said parliament will have to write off the money sunk into the scheme. A good proportion of the capital invested has provided items of permanent value such as hospitals, schools, roads and a railway. But many millions of the British taxpayer's pounds have gone down the drain.

Under the scheme announced today nuts will give way to other crops on 50 per cent of the cultivated land. The new scheme will be organized as seven-year plan.

War Crisis At A Glance

KOREA—Allies counter-attacked Red forces in two locations just south of Wonju, as Allied artillery slammed shells into Communists and fighter-bombers roared down in close support. Chinese built up massive attacking force around Osan. The 8th Army continued its retreat to the southeast, with Red vanguards close on their heels. Strong censorship measures cloaked much of the war front.

The Princess Pats completed their first operational assignment, a 48-hour reconnaissance within the Pusan area.

CHINA—American citizens in the British Crown Colony of Hongkong were warned to evacuate their dependants as the Far East situation deteriorated.

LONDON—Europe's free press hailed President Truman's State-of-the-Union speech as helping to harden the will of West European nations to defend themselves against aggression.

FONTAINEBLEAU, France—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Atlantic Pact military commander, arrived to inspect Pact set-up.

INDO-CHINA—Three infantry battalions and a tank regiment equipped with U.S. Sherman tanks reinforced French forces fighting Communist-led Nationalists in northern Indochina. Infantry troops included Moroccans, Senegalese and Foreign Legion troops.

Veregin, Companion Get New B.C. Trial

Michael (The Archangel) Veregin, 250-pound, 70-year-old leader of the Vancouver Island Doukhobor community at Hilliers, near Qualicum, today won his appeal in the B.C. Appeal Court against convictions of seditious conspiracy arising out of the 1949 riots of the radical religious sect in the Kootenay district. He is now out on bail and residing at the Hilliers colony.

Winning a new trial with Veregin is Joseph Podovnikov, who, with Veregin, was found guilty by an Assize Court jury.

Three years ago Veregin established the first Doukhobor colony on Vancouver Island at Hilliers. High board fences were built to keep out the curious.

With 200 other Doukhobors he had left the old colony in the Kootenays because of the "modern ways" many of the Doukhobors there had adopted.

Veregin announced at that time the Doukhobors would live at Hilliers peacefully, and said there would be no annoyance to neighboring farmers from members of his sect.

They had taken a small part in public life and allowed choir of Doukhobor children to make public appearances.

ARRESTED IN SNOWSTORM Veregin was charged last Jan. 25 at Hilliers after police made a difficult trip through deep snow to the Doukhobor settlement founded by "The Archangel."

He was charged with two other leaders with conspiring among themselves, and with others, to create ill-will, discontent, dissatisfaction and hatred among Doukhobors; with encouraging them to refuse to send their children to school; and with encouraging and agreeing to adultery and sharing husbands and wives.

BLAST CHARGE Veregin was also charged with causing an explosion in connection with the dynamiting of a bridge at Brilliant in 1947, and with willfully setting fire to the Brilliant Community Hall in 1946.

Pongyang Blasted TOKYO (AP)—B-29s, bombing by radar, dumped more than 100 tons of bombs today on military targets at Pongyang. Targets were shrouded by thick clouds.

A bit at sea in the language of their new country, they did manage to get over the fact that little Irene loved the trip over, as the three were shepherded to the boat-bound bus.
